King Ferdinand Is Near Death

CONDITION IS DECLARED TO BE HOPELESS

Calls Premier Averescu to Bedside and Asks Him to Submit His Resignation

CENSORSHIP STRICTER

Rumanian Ruler Is Anxious To Bring Order to Country's Political Situation

(By United Press)
BUCHAREST, May 31.—King Ferdinand of Rumania was believed dying today. The king, who has been critically ill for months, summoned Premier Averescu to his bedside and formally asked him and the rest of his cabinet to resign in favor of a coalition cabinet embracing all parties.

It was understood to have been presented to Averescu as the dying request of the king, anxious, as his last act, to attempt to bring order into the confused political situation in his kingdom. The premier was expected to yield to the plea.

Censorship was made more strict.

Physicians were understood to have confirmed reports that the cancer which has kept King Ferdinand in a critical condition since last fall has reached the final stage and that his condition was virtually hopeless.

2 Parishes In Path Of Flood Water

(By United Press)
NEW ORLEANS, May 31.—Efforts were rushed today to prevent inundation of Terre Bonne and La Fourche parishes, which lie in the direct path of the southern Louisiana flood waters.

Water at Morgan City, which lies between the two parishes and the flood, is on the rise. Draw spans over the main line of the Southern Pacific railroad over Bayou Boeuf and the Atchafalaya will be closed within a few days. Reservoirs in the parish obtained permission to place a dam in Bayou Black in order to keep the water out of their lands.

The dam, which is under construction now, would divert the water into the low prairie lands of the district.

ANOTHER DYNAMITE PLANT IS UNCOVERED

INQUIRY UNEARTHED FORGED JULIAN STOCK CERTIFICATES

Federal Agents Reported On Way to L. A. to Aid in Inquiry

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, May 31.—Forged stock certificates of the Julian Petroleum corporation were discovered today in connection with the investigation of books of A. C. Waggy and company, brokers for the collapsed oil concern.

The name of C. C. Conroy, secretary of the Julian company, was found forged in the books. Documents by Corporation Commissioner Jack Friedlander and his assistant, Deputy H. A. R. Welsh.

Their examination of records thus far disclosed 12 forged certificates with the total number of shares involved impossible to estimate until a complete check has been made.

The discovery was announced as the grand jury resumed its probe into the Julian financial middle involving millions of dollars.

Telegraph company officials were the first witnesses called. They were to testify, it was reported, concerning messages said to have passed between officials of the Julian corporation and pool operators.

The first arrest in the case was reported from Baltimore today, where Samuel Anthony, alias Clarence Herman, associate of Jacob Berman, missing Julian corporation official, was taken into custody.

Herman is wanted here in connection with the alleged embezzlement of $2400 in a Julian stock deal. Chief Deputy District Attorney Harold Davis said Herman was not wanted in connection with the grand jury investigation of the case.

Dr. E. J. Lickley, city prosecutor, was expected to issue his first promised complaints against alleged violators of the state usury law following his conference with C. C. Julian, organizer of the oil company.

With S. C. Lewis, resigned head of the corporation, resuming his testimony before the county grand jury, it was reported that federal agents of the postoffice department, at Washington were enroute to Los Angeles to assist in the investigation.

This was taken to indicate that the federal government is prepared to order a U. S. grand jury investigation on the grounds that the mails were used illegally in the marketing of Julian stock.

New Aqueduct Blast Feared By Authorities

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, May 31.—The discovery of a case of dynamite in Owens valley kept the Los Angeles aqueduct dispute simmering over "explosives" today that threatened to roar again in new demonstrations by valley ranchers.

The dynamite, said to have been shipped from this city, is believed to have been part of the "plant" used in blowing up the No-Name canyon siphon and portions of the intake at Big Pine power house last week.

Meanwhile every precaution has been taken to guard the aqueduct, while equipment is being rushed to repair the damage said to have been caused when enraged residents of the valley dynamited the water system as a protest against what they termed "unfair tactics" by the city of Los Angeles.

State Senator Ralph Swing is reported to have forwarded a secret report to Governor Young, following his visit to the scene of the blasts.

It was believed that work on the aqueduct will have progressed sufficiently by the end of the week to again permit water to flow through the big pipes.

Mob Fails In Attempt To Seize Slayer

(By United Press)
TAMPA, Fla., May 31.—Eight men were wounded, two seriously, when a mob of 600 stormed the Hillsborough county jail early today, seeking B. F. Lewis, self-confessed slayer of a father and three children.

At dawn the mob was reported to have dwindled away after a succession of volleys from the barricaded force of the sheriff.

Ambulances removed the wounded shortly before day-break.

Lindbergh said his plane, the "Spirit of St. Louis," in which he made his non-stop flight from New York to Paris, would be shipped from Southampton Thursday aboard the George Washington of the United States Lines.

Lindbergh said he would fly from here to Paris on Thursday in a machine of the British Royal Air force. After saying farewell to Paris, he will fly in the same machine to Cherbourg and embark on the Breck.

COURT RULING GREAT VICTORY FOR DRY FORCE

Right to Enforce Prohibition Outside 12-Mile Limit Upheld

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, May 31.—Right of the U. S. Coast Guard to enforce prohibition laws outside of the 12-mile limit was upheld by the U. S. supreme court in an opinion read today by Justice Brandeis.

His announcement came in giving a decision upholding use of liquor seized outside this limit as evidence in conspiracy cases.

The decision on evidence was given in the James Leach case from Boston. The decision on the wide question of right of the guard to operate against American vessels anywhere on the high seas, in prohibition cases, was in the famous "Underwriter" case. Brandeis said, adding the Underwriter decision would be announced today.

The decision is regarded as a wide prohibition victory, along a line which Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews has emphasized in his enforcement efforts.

REPORT OF ANOTHER FLIGHT CIRCULATED

LONDON, May 31.—Reports that another airplane flight from New York to Paris was in progress circulated in London today. The Cunard Anchor line office at Glasgow announced that the master of the SS Transylvania reported he had sighted an airplane about 100 miles off the Irish coast. The Transylvania is a special Rotary club ship.

The Cunard Anchor line informed the United Press by telephone from Glasgow that the following radio message had been received from Capt. David W. Bone, of the Transylvania:

"Transylvania at 11 p. m., G. M. T. (7 p. m. eastern daylight time) position 45° 47' north, 32° 29' west, observed an airplane about 20 miles south of us, steering eastward."

TWO KILLED IN N. Y. MEMORIAL DAY DISORDERS

Klansmen Beat Off Police Squad in Parade Clash At Queens

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, May 31.—Six men faced charges ranging from participating in a disorderly parade to felonious assault and a whole riot squad of police was threatened with investigation today because of riotous Memorial Day parades, in which men were killed and scores bruised and battered.

Three serious disturbances occurred. Klansmen clashed with defeated police who attempted to keep them from marching in a Memorial Day parade in Queens. Six Klansmen were arrested.

Two fascists, one of whom served in the American army and the other with the Italian forces in the World war, were killed, allegedly by anti-fascists, in the Bronx.

The fascists slain were Joseph Carzi, 39, and Nicholas Amoroso, 22. Carzi was stabbed and Amoroso shot and stabbed by two unidentified men.

Chief of the water department, suffered a broken jaw in two places and a dislocated shoulder, according to physicians at the Emergency hospital at Newhall.

E. F. Leahy, in charge of the water department's operations in Owens valley, suffered a badly sprained back and cuts and abrasions, while W. J. Clark, special investigator, received probably broken ribs and was badly bruised.

H. D. Woodward, chauffeur, was the most seriously hurt, suffering five broken ribs and possible internal injuries.

Leahy said the car was traveling at high speed and did not negotiate a sharp turn. No other cars were in the vicinity.

A Los Angeles police ambulance was rushed to Newhall and the injured men removed to Los Angeles.

PARIS FLIGHT HERO RECEIVED AT BUCKINGHAM

Air Force Cross Bestowed Upon Lindbergh by King George

(By United Press)
LONDON, May 31.—King George today received Charles Lindbergh at Buckingham palace and bestowed on the transatlantic aviator the air force cross.

The Missouri National Guard captain's visit to Buckingham palace came after he had said au revoir to the Ryan monoplane "Spirit of St. Louis," which carried him from New York to Paris, Brussels and London.

He flew the plane from Croydon air field to Gosport, where it was to be dismantled as once for shipment to the United States, substantiating reports that the flyer planner to return home within a few days.

After flying to Gosport, 75 miles away, Lindbergh returned to Croydon as a passenger in a royal air force plane. He returned to the U. S. embassy in a motor car and dressed at once for his visit to King George—the second monarch he has greeted within four days.

The air force cross was the third decoration bestowed on Lindbergh by an European nation. France made him a knight of the Legion of Honor and King Albert of the Belgians made him a chevalier of the Order of Leopold.

Pays Visit to Baldwin

Before going to the palace Lindbergh paid a brief visit to Premier Baldwin. Later he was received by the Prince of Wales.

The audience with the king lasted about 20 minutes. Lindbergh left the palace at 11:05 a. m., and drove directly to St. James palace, where he was received by the Prince of Wales. They talked until 11:30.

The meeting between the Prince of Wales and Lindbergh, the two most popular and famous bachelors in the world, was private. Wales received Lindbergh in his private apartments alone.

Lindbergh dined privately with the air council, composed of air ministry officials, at Claridges hotel.

Buckingham palace officials gathered in the vestibule to welcome Lindbergh. Princess Elizabeth, the infant daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, who are returning aboard H. M. S. Renown from a state visit to Australia, was brought down by her nurse to see Lindbergh.

As he was leaving the palace, Lindbergh took Princess Elizabeth.

Liberalists Win In Church Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—With the fundamentalist-liberalist controversy settled by an overwhelming victory for the liberalists, delegates to the 139th general assembly of the Presbyterian church today settled down to a grind of reports and church business which remain on the calendar and must be cleared up before the body adjourns tomorrow afternoon.

The last clash over the adoption of the Princeton seminary report, around which the ultra fundamentalist group of the Philadelphia presbytery built a case of bitterness against the so-called liberalists, headed by Dr. W. O. Thompson, retiring moderator, was passed almost without discussion yesterday afternoon.

Balloons Report Their Positions

AKRON, O., May 31.—Two balloons of the 15 which started from here late yesterday in the national balloon race had reported their whereabouts today, about 300 miles from Akron. The others were believed still in the air.

Lt. T. O. W. Steele in the navy No. 1 passed over Rochester, N. Y., at 7 a. m., officials here were advised.

Another message came from the D. Williams Jr., pilot of the Detroit No. 1. He dropped a note at Gratz, Pa., at 5 a. m., saying he was 500 feet in the air.

Gratz is about 23 miles north of Harrisburg.

Senora Calles' Condition Better

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—The condition of Senora Natalia Calles, wife of the president of Mexico, continued to improve at the California Lutheran hospital, it was reported today, but she is not entirely out of danger. Senora Calles, who underwent an operation for a chronic ailment, was expected to be completely recovered within a few weeks, unless complications set in.

Lawyers Question Lita Grey Chaplin

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—Forestalling any further court action, Lita Grey Chaplin will appear voluntarily, but privately today before attorneys for her estranged husband, Charlie Chaplin, and answer questions put to her in the form of a deposition today.

The latest gesture in the sensational divorce battle followed the refusal, a week ago, of her attorneys to allow the young wife to answer the questions privately, while Chaplin's attorneys refused to take the deposition in public.

Contempt of court proceedings which were instituted against Mrs. Chaplin will be voided by her action, which also will expedite the comedian's answer to her divorce complaint, which now must be filed by Saturday.

ARTIST MURDERS SHOW GIRL WIFE AND TAKES OWN LIFE

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, May 31.—A romance that could not adjust itself to the miles that separate Broadway and a desert town of the southwest was to be written in colorless records at an inquest here today into the murder of a New York show girl and the suicide of her small town husband.

The bodies of Lawrence S. Mueller, an artist of El Centro, and Pearl Evelyn Mueller, his "golden girl" and bride of two months, lay in the county morgue here today.

From letters and telegrams found in the room it was indicated that the young actress had tired of her drab life with Mueller and had come to Los Angeles, denying him the "last chance" for "one week of happiness."

He answered her last telegram in person. Her neck discovered yesterday lying across a bed in a downtown hotel. From the closet door intel, Mueller's body hung.

CONDITION CRITICAL

FRESNO, May 31.—The condition of Mrs. Clara Drummond, 22, was still critical today as she lay asleep on a hospital cot for the 58th day, according to attendants at the county hospital.

REPORT OF ANOTHER FLIGHT CIRCULATED

LONDON, May 31.—Reports that another airplane flight from New York to Paris was in progress circulated in London today. The Cunard Anchor line office at Glasgow announced that the master of the SS Transylvania reported he had sighted an airplane about 100 miles off the Irish coast. The Transylvania is a special Rotary club ship.

The Cunard Anchor line informed the United Press by telephone from Glasgow that the following radio message had been received from Capt. David W. Bone, of the Transylvania:

"Transylvania at 11 p. m., G. M. T. (7 p. m. eastern daylight time) position 45° 47' north, 32° 29' west, observed an airplane about 20 miles south of us, steering eastward."

New Kelly Trial Denied By Court

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—Paul Kelly, young screen actor, faced Superior Judge Charles Burnell here today to hear his motion for a new trial denied and receive sentence from one to 10 years in San Quentin for the "knuckle" murder of Ray Raymond.

Kelly, his face ashen white and his body trembling with emotion, heard himself branded as a heelless youth by Judge Burnell who also directed the prison board to give careful notice of the "clandestine love affair between Dorothy Mackaye, the victim's actress wife, and the defendant."

Defense Attorney W. I. Gilbert immediately filed notice of appeal to the appellate court in an effort to stay the sentence.

REPORT OF ANOTHER FLIGHT CIRCULATED

BEGIN REPAIRS ON DE PINEDO'S PLANE

HORTA, Azores, May 31.—The task of repairing Col. Francisco De Pinedo's plane, Santa Maria, was to be started today.

When the plane is again in flying condition, the fascist aviator will retrace his path to the place near the island of Flores, where he was forced down a week ago.

De Pinedo desires to keep clear his record of crossing the Atlantic twice by air and for that reason will fly over the route followed by ships which towed his craft to port after it was forced down.

POLICE, FEARING LYNCHING, REMOVE BOY TO L. A. JAIL

(By United Press)
POMONA, Calif., May 31.—An inquest will be held here today into the death of Mrs. Fannie Weigle, prominent Pomona woman, whose murder has been confessed, police say, by a 16-year-old youth, Durward Wittenmyer.

Because of the high feeling that followed his asserted confession, Wittenmyer was removed from the county jail in Los Angeles by local police, who feared that an attempt might be made on his life.

Wittenmyer, who was released from an institution last Thursday, was taken into custody after he had confessed the murder to his father, who became suspicious at the boy's blood-spattered clothing.

Mrs. Weigle was struck down Saturday night with a heavy piece of steel by a mysterious assailant, who then attempted to assault her.

The boy readily signed a confession. He was committed to the institution a few years ago for hitting another woman over the head with a rock.

Sheffield May Not Return to Mexico

WASHINGTON, May 31.—James R. Sheffield, of New York, is not expected to return to Mexico City as American ambassador.

Though President Coolidge declines to say whether Sheffield has submitted a resignation, effective this summer, or whether such a resignation has been accepted, usually well informed officials think a new envoy will be sent to the southern republic.

Some feel that the present relative quiet in Mexican relations permits Sheffield to leave with dignity a post which has been somewhat of a difficulty during his tenure.

Study Treaty Outlawing War

WASHINGTON, May 31.—President Coolidge has directed the department to study the "Kellogg" treaty outlawing war prepared by two Columbia University professors, New York City.

The president told friends today he is much interested in the general subject of outlawing war, which would be exceedingly pleased to find such aspirations put in official form.

He will not comment on the proposed draft, however, until the department has passed upon

AMERICAN HERO IS RECEIVED BY ENGLAND'S KING

King George questioned Lindbergh fully about the transatlantic flight and his eyes lighted with admiration.

Several hundreds of persons braved the drizzling rain to wait several hours before the grilles to the outer palace yard for Lindbergh's arrival. The unofficial well-wishers lined both sides of the parkway and cheered as he entered.

250-Piece Band Plays
A band of 250 pieces played martial airs outside the palace all the while Lindbergh was with the king and 1000 soldiers, comprising detachments of the Welsh, Scottish, Irish and Grenadier Guards marched past.

The military maneuvering near Buckingham palace was part of the rehearsal of the ceremony of trooping the colors, which will take place Saturday on King George's birthday. The scarlet uniforms of the guardsmen made a picturesque setting for Lindbergh's departure from the palace.

The Duke of Connaught, in the roadway adjacent to the Victoria memorial in front of the palace, took the salute today, but the king will take the salute Saturday. It was a complete rehearsal with the Prince of Wales and the military attaches of the embassies participating.

After passing the Duke of Connaught, the troops wheeled and entered the courtyard of the palace. Almost simultaneously the crowd began cheering for Lindbergh, who emerged just then. Cheering crowds lined the entire route of a quarter of a mile to St. James palace.

Lindbergh's program today included an Aero club banquet, a Swedish festival and banquet and the Derby ball.

Embraced Again
Lindbergh suffered his second public feminine embrace since he reached Europe when a pretty woman of 30 dashed from the crowd and threw her arms around the 25-year-old flyer as he walked from the American embassy to a waiting motor car with Ambassador Houghton yesterday. Lindbergh ducked and avoided a kiss, but the girl succeeded in hugging him before policemen could restrain her.

In his daily press interview, Lindbergh again explained he would not act on any offers of movie contracts or flying positions until he returned to the United States.

He told newspapermen he had definitely cancelled his proposed trip to Sweden and said that when he left London he would fly to Paris and embark from France for America.

Lindbergh will be the guest of Lord Londsdale at the Derby tomorrow.

Edison Company Petition Denied

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The U. S. supreme court today denied the petition of the Southern California Edison company for an order suspending a California supreme court injunction forbidding it to dam up and store waters of the San Joaquin river at Florence lake reservoir, pending the highest court's review of the validity of the injunction.

The court advanced the hearing of the case to its next argument session, October 3.

The company alleges it needed the water to serve its customers in California.

Rancher Shoots Wife, Hangs Self

WILLOWS, Calif., May 31.—Believed to have become temporarily deranged after a domestic quarrel, H. V. McCulley, 60, well to do rancher of the Orland section today shot his wife through the breast with a revolver and then went out to a barn and hanged himself.

Mrs. McCulley is near death, the bullet having grazed her heart. The four young children of the couple witnessed the shooting. A son, 14, wrested the gun from his father after the aged man attempted to fire it again at his wife.

Farmers to Ask Help of Congress

DES MOINES, Ia., May 31.—The grain belt federation of farm organizations, claiming to represent more than one million midwestern farmers, will take the fight for farm relief to the seventieth congress under the slogan "Protection for all or protection for none." It was decided at the closing session of the body here.

A resolution of protest against President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill was adopted. The organization declared it will "carefully examine" any proposal President Coolidge may put forward in the next congress but "under no circumstances" will it give its endorsement to any measure which does not deal with the question of surplus "in the most direct way and in the best of good faith."

Steamship Lines Will Amalgamate

ROME, May 31.—Negotiations for the amalgamation of three great Italian steamship lines are under way, it has been learned. No agreement for the combination has yet been reached. The lines involved are the Lloyd Sabaudo, the Navigazione Generale Italiana and the Consueli.

LAGUNA AND ARCH BEACH TO VOTE JUNE 22 ON WHETHER TO INCORPORATE AS CITY

Laguna Beach and Arch Beach voters will decide upon June 22 whether those communities shall be incorporated into a city of the sixth class, to be known as Laguna Beach, it was decreed today by the county board of supervisors, who called the election for that date.

That the incorporation issue will be hotly contested was made apparent today when heavy opposition to the calling of an election was offered by Arch Beach property owners, who object to being included in the project. Declaring that they had enough votes to defeat the proposal, and that they would appeal to the courts if necessary, the Arch Beach faction protested at the calling of a "useless" election.

During the debate before the supervisors, bitterness developed and torrid remarks were hurled back and forth. Arch Beach itself appeared to be divided in its opposition, one group claiming that 95 per cent of the community was against incorporation, while several others argued vigorously in favor of the step.

Let Laguna Beach incorporate if it desires. But leave us out of it. Let Laguna Beach commercialize interests put their hands in their own pockets, but keep them out of our pockets. Our taxes are high enough now. We might decide to come into the city later, but we refuse to be tugged into it. Such was the trend of remarks of the anti-incorporation side of the argument.

"We need incorporation to correct the unbearable conditions under which we are now living; to provide fire and police protection, and zoning. We are paying for those things and Arch Beach wants to get the benefits without paying its share. Incorporation will bring improvements and assets to Laguna Beach that will lower taxes instead of raise them." That was the other side of the situation, and so the lines were drawn for the election campaign.

Supervisor George Jeffrey, in whose district Laguna Beach is located, made the motion that the election be called for June 22. The chamber of commerce building in Laguna Beach was selected for the polling place. While deciding the question of incorporation, the voters also will vote upon candidates for five seats on the city council and for other municipal offices.

H. W. Weeks, of Arch Beach, delivered a strenuous argument against incorporation of Arch Beach. He declared that the district was already burdened with bond issues for sewer, water and schools, amounting to $832,000. He charged discrimination in the omission of acreage belonging to the Irvine ranch company and the Temple Hills tract of Joseph Thurston, and declared that the property owners beyond Cypress street were a unit in opposition to incorporation.

Thurston answered Weeks with the declaration that statements "beneath the dignity of the occasion" had been made. He said that he would have liked to have his tract included but that it was legally impossible to do so, because most of it was separated from the proposed city boundaries, while some of his subdivided property was connected by only small strips. "It would look like putting horns on an elephant to take that in," he said. Mrs. Thurston a moment later told the board that, as joint owner of the Thurston properties, she was in favor of having their property included in the city.

Others speaking on both sides of the question had their say. There was reference to "the gang" running affairs in Laguna Beach. "But that's no excuse to oppose incorporation" said a speaker. "If Laguna Beach hasn't enough honest people to vote the gang out, then Heaven help them."

William W. Riddell, one of the circulators of the petition to incorporate, is an artist who lives at Arch Beach.

"I, too, regret to see the change," he said. "I would have Laguna Beach remain as I saw it seven years ago. I am an artist. But we cannot halt progress. We live on a great boulevard and we must go ahead. We cannot stop."

The slingers of protests before the board today greatly outnumbered those who signed the petition to incorporate. The latter was said to carry about 70 names, while the opposition numbered fully 150 signatures.

Attorney L. A. West, of Santa Ana, presented the petition to incorporate, set forth the proposed boundaries of the city and stated that the territory included at least 1500 inhabitants. Only 500 population is necessary for incorporation.

Police Baffled By Murder of Officer

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—Police were still baffled today over the apparent murder of Policeman William Cullinan, who was found beaten and dead on the running board of an automobile outside an alleged beer parlor early yesterday.

Although three persons have admitted that they were with a man known to them as Roy Billingsley, when they claim, Billingsley struck the officer one blow, because Cullinan's gun and handcuffs have not been found. Billingsley has thus far eluded the police dragnet which was thrown out for him yesterday.

An autopsy revealed that the policeman died of cerebral hemorrhage, which might have resulted from a blow or a fall.

Aviators Thrown In Bay In Crash

COLLEGE POINT, N. Y., May 31.—Ivan Sikorsky, airplane manufacturer, G. Colver and an unidentified mechanic were thrown into Flushing bay today when their hydroplane crashed into a submerged object after a forced descent. The aviators managed to scramble out on a wing and shouted to men on a nearby dock, who came out in rowboats and rescued them. They were not injured.

Orange County Fortunate in Low Electricity Rates

District Manager Deimling of the Southern California Edison company, is justly proud of the fact that the experimental reduced rates of the Edison Company are to be the same in his district (not only in the cities but in the country also) as in the Los Angeles metropolitan area. He points out that only in such favored areas as Southern California, where population is dense and per capita use of electricity is high even in the rural districts, would it be possible to give a country district as low rates as could be given in densely populated metropolitan areas.

PARACHUTE JUMPS ARE TO BE MADE

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 31.—A class of nine men at the navy's only parachute school, located at the air station here, is more or less eagerly awaiting the coming of favorable weather, when the students will be taken aloft in an airplane to a height of 1500 feet for their first jumps.

The men have completed a course of training covering 16 weeks in the maintenance, packing, repairing and the practical use of parachutes. The final requisite before receiving their diplomas is a "liftoff" from an airplane.

When the time comes Lieut. De Long Mills, pilot, will carry two men, one standing on each lower wing of the airplane, into the air. At a signal from the instructor in the cockpit each will pull his "rip cord," and wait for his parachute to open, fill with wind and drag him from the wing of the machine. After the liftoffs, students so desiring will be permitted to take a "free fall," jumping first and pulling the ripcord later, from the non-rigid airship J-3.

Alva F. Starr of Petoskey, Mich., chief boatswain's mate, instructor in charge, who has trained more than 40 men during his three and a half years at the school, will make the first jump, a free fall. Starr has made more than 90 parachute leaps.

Connecticut Has Flying Governor

HARTFORD, May 31.—John H. Trumbull, Connecticut's "flying governor," uses his planes as others use their automobiles. He flies for pleasure, flies to business and back and flies out for social calls.

Mechanical knowledge of planes came easily to the governor, since he has been a manufacturer of electrical appliances all his life. He passed a pilot's examination, which, with his connections with commercial and mail carrying air lines, puts him in the class of experts in air transportation.

Movie Chatterbox

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — When Eddie Cantor recently made a hurried trip to New York, a surgeon who has been a life-long friend, asked the comedian for a souvenir.

"Sure," said Eddie, "I know something very personal that I can spare and it will be suitable for a man in your position. Take out my tonsils and you can have them."

And Eddie came back without any tonsils.

Mexico is rapidly coming to the fore as a country in which film prospects may be found. Slightly more than a year ago Edwin Carewe brought Dolores Del Rio here from Mexico City. Today she is one of the best "bets" in moviedom.

And now Lupe Velez has left her home to join the celluloid colony. Although she made her first appearance before a camera less than two months ago, Douglas Fairbanks has signed her for his leading lady in his next production. Miss Del Rio was originally scheduled for the role, but was unable to play it because she is needed by Carewe for his next production.

All actors aren't willing to play in westerns. About two months ago Lois Wilson left the Paramount because directors insisted she should play a western lead. Now Warner Baxter has broken his contract for the same reason.

One of Hobart Bosworth's greatest prizes in his collection of model ships which always are on display in his Beverly Hills home. It is by far the best collection of its kind in the movie colony. And there's a reason—when just a boy, Bosworth ran away and went to sea. He sailed on various merchant vessels and fishing smacks for several years before going on the stage.

Some energetic person out at the Lasky studio has just discovered the perfect motion picture type. The perfect woman should be five feet four inches tall and weigh 114.5 pounds. Men should be five feet 10 1/2 inches tall and weigh 167 pounds. These figures were reached by taking an average of the 40 featured players on the Lasky lot.

STOP!

and Ask Yourself
this Question—

If you asked yourself for a raise . . .
would you get it

You know you're good, of course! You're sure for a certainty that you could fill the job just ahead. Why not? But between you and us and the looking-glass, the important point is this: Do you look as though you could? Take a Boss-eye view of yourself! Does your appearance reflect that confident spirit that burns so brightly under your vest? Do your clothes say "here I am—on my toes—ready to tackle anything or anybody." Or have you grown a bit careless? Have you dreamed so hard of filling another man's shoes that you have allowed your own to go unpolished? Many a good man is marking time because of a dingy coat-cuff or a blotchy lapel! It might be a good idea to take a look at the contents of your clothes closet. You know, of course, that there is nothing like dry cleaning regularly, to keep clothes looking new all the time. It puts pep into the most discouraged suit. It restores the original life to matted, shiny naps. It dissolves away slovenly spots and blotches. It gives you that "all's well with the world" feeling that comes with clothes that are right! We operate a clothes cleaning service for you. Why not have our service car call on a certain day each week?

SENIOR CLASS AT POLY HIGH TAKES DAY OFF

Senior students at the high school ditched school today. School books and class rooms were left behind when the upper-class students, by permission of Principal D. K. Hammond, went for an all day outing at Laguna Beach.

The years of strife over the question of whether the seniors should or should not be allowed a day to ditch have been ended. Under certain conditions, to which the students agreed, the administration granted permission for the affair.

Early this morning, the students left in the school buses for the beach.

Beach games and water sports were to be engaged in by the privileged seniors. The destination of the party was for Diver's cove. Late in the afternoon, the beach frolic was to end and the sun-burned seniors return to prepare for the few remaining days before the commencement exercises conclude their high school career.

HEAVY TRAFFIC HANDLED FAST MEMORIAL DAY

A new system of handling traffic at Fourth and Main street, Santa Ana's busiest corner, instigated Saturday, was given the acid test over the holidays and worked out satisfactory, according to a statement made today by Claude Rogers, chief of police.

The button in the center of the streets has been removed and instead four buttons have been placed, one at the entrance from each direction.

Turns at the intersection are therefore made easier, according to Rogers because the car can be swung to the right or left without having to go around the center button. This method speeds up traffic through the intersection, Rogers said.

The traffic officer stands, not in the center of the streets, as heretofore, but at one of the entrances.

Although several accidents were reported in Orange county over the week-end as the result of unusually heavy traffic over the state highways, traffic as a whole was handled better than ever before here on a holiday, in the opinion of Captain Henry C. Meehan, of the state traffic squad.

There were no traffic jams, and persons returning to their homes through the county late yesterday were kept moving at all times Meehan said.

As usual, the heaviest traffic was over the road leading from San Diego, through San Juan Capistrano, Tustin and Santa Ana, and thousands of automobiles were scattered over the road all day yesterday.

At the intersection of Tustin avenue and West First streets, State Traffic Officers George Stinson and Jimmy Cain kept a check on the number of vehicles and reported that 18,000 passed there from 1 p. m. until 6 p. m., an average of one car per second during the five hours.

Officers said today that the reason this was possible was because of the new street along First street, which allowed west bound traffic to travel four and five deep at times.

More than 30 state officers and deputy sheriffs were on the main roads of the county yesterday, Sheriff Jernigan sending his entire squad of deputy sheriffs to aid Captain Meehan in handling the holiday traffic.

Santa Ana police also were busy throughout the day, many working overtime on North Main street where there was signs of jamming at times, they reported.

Twenty-five Rhode Island Red chickens were stolen from the place of John Osterman, on East Seventeenth street, near Tustin avenue, some time Saturday night, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office. Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, made an investigation.

Charged with reckless driving and "cutting in," Clyde Funk, 3505 Twenty-eighth street, San Diego, was arrested yesterday near El Toro, on the San Diego highway, by V. Harnhill, state traffic officer. Funk is to report here Friday to answer to the charges. According to Harnhill, Funk was speeding 56 miles an hour through the heaviest of holiday traffic and ran several cars off the road into a ditch.

Charged with assault, Elutrio Araujo, 21, Olive laborer, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Scott and Knight and is being held in the county jail. Araujo is charged with beating up his wife, according to Scott. The arrest was made at Second and Bristol streets, at the home of the woman's parents, where Araujo is said to have gone after his alleged trouble at Olive with his wife.

Court Notes

Judgment Entered
Judgment has been entered in superior court in the case of the Continental National bank, Los Angeles, against the Bulboa Motor corporation, of Fullerton, awarding the bank $582.03. Judge James L. Allen heard the case.

Granted Title
The Title Guarantee and Trust company, Los Angeles, has been granted a decree by Superior Judge Homer G. Ames against W. D. Melville, quieting title to property in the Homewood tract of Orange county.

Seeks Probation
Walter Cook, who pleaded guilty to a statutory charge, involving a 17-year-old Orange girl, has applied for probation and will receive a hearing before Superior Judge E. J. Marks next Friday at 9:30 a. m.

Possession of an augur machine, valued at $494.59, was at stake in a suit filed today in superior court by R. H. Sheldon against A. E. Koepsel, Orange attorney. Sheldon claims that the machine belongs to him but that Koepsel holds possession of it and refuses to yield it. The court is asked to direct delivery of the machine to Sheldon, or allow judgment for its value, together with $250 damages.

Valentine A. Rios has appealed to superior court from a judgment rendered in Fullerton justice court recently, when the Brown and Dauser company was awarded $113.39 in a case against Rios. The Brown and Dauser company sued on an account, through Attorney Guss Hagenstein. Attorney J. F. Conkey represents Rios.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dimmick have filed suit in superior court against Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lehmborg and others to quiet title to five acres of land west of Anaheim.

Sporting relics may prove quite a good investment. Recently a penny tin token, which had been used as an admission ticket for a prize fight in 1792, was sold at auction in London for nearly $100. The fight was between Mendoza and Warr, and went to 24 rounds before it was won by the former. So it lasted rather longer than the championship fights of today.

JANITOR'S PET OWL MIXED ITS HOLIDAYS

The rather well known expression ending with "baked owl" could not be applied today to the pet owl of Dan Patrick, janitor at the courthouse. Patrick's owl was a baked owl. It happened yesterday.

The young owl, which Janitor Patrick had rescued from the dim recesses of the courthouse cupola, got his holidays mixed, with fatal results, Patrick believes.

"The poor bird," mourned Patrick, "thought it was Christmas, instead of Memorial day. He tried to come down the chimney, thinking, maybe, that he was Santa Claus."

"At the bottom of the chimney he couldn't get out, there being no opening. And there he was. Yes, sir, there he was. In fact, there he still is. You see, I started the fire under the boilers and—no, he didn't get baked. He got baked."

Today, Dan Patrick was up in the cupola looking for another owl. He has hung up a calendar in his quarters.

Relatives-to-be Plan Happy Affair for Bride of June

A cordial welcome into a new family was extended Miss Estelle Higgins of Orange last night, by Mrs. H. P. Opp, and her daughters, the Misses Louisa and Carolina Opp, mother and sisters of Miss Higgins' fiancé, Carl Opp.

The marriage of Miss Higgins and Mr. Opp will be an event of the near future, and in honor of that event, Mrs. Opp made the affair a miscellaneous shower for the bride-elect. The gifts were presented in novel manner during the merry evening of music and chat.

At a late hour, guests were invited to the dining-room where a long table presented a charming effect with its decorative appointments corresponding to the mated couple and larkspur which lent charm to the spacious rooms. The same striking combination was used in the flowers centering the table, while tall yellow candles added to the effect. Salad, sandwiches and coffee were served, followed by a second course of ice cream and cake.

Enjoying the thoughtful hospitality of Mrs. Opp and her daughters, were their honoree, Miss Higgins, her mother, Mrs. W. O. Higgins, Mrs. T. M. Henry, Mrs. Clara Prange, Miss Marian Prange, Mrs. F. W. Wieseman, Mrs. William Stauffer, Mrs. LeRoy Valentine, Mrs. F. Maroney, Mrs. Sidney R. Williams, Mrs. Merton H. Tower, Mrs. Merle Tower, Mrs. Carl Wieseman and Mrs. Fred Opp.

Twin Sisters Honored At Enjoyable Party On Birthday

Birthday parties are always great fun, but when twins have a birthday party, the fun is doubled. At least so think the Misses Mary and Margaret Foster, whose thirteenth birthday recently was celebrated very happily by a party at their home, 808 Fairview street.

Mary and Margaret are members of the high seventh grade at Julia Lathrop junior high school, and their close friends and schoolmates were bidden to the merry party. Everybody enjoyed the games planned, especially "drop the button," in which Kathleen Fry took the prize, a handkerchief, daintily hand-painted.

Birthday refreshments were served on the lawn where growing dahlias, gladiolas and roses and burdened fruit trees made a perfect setting for the bevy of lovely young girls. Mary and Margaret each had a delicious birthday cake, cut and served with the other refreshments.

Each twin received many pretty gifts from the young guests who were the Misses Anna Detwiler, Aldena Snoddy, Barbara Copeland, Carolyn Cushing, Evelyn Stahs, Evelyn Griseth, Jean Shreeve, Helen Mansur, Jean Lindquist, Kathleen Fry, Patricia O'Brien, Marian Ebker, Melba Lake and Lois Porter.

Junior High Glee Club To Give Operetta

"Bits O' Blarney," described by young Rodney Yould of Julia Lathrop junior high school, as "an Irish mix-up in two acts," is the semester's operetta to be given by the Julia Lathrop Glee clubs, tonight in the high school auditorium.

Rodney tells how Miss Edith Cornell, director, has chosen Harold Berry to play the role of "Mike O'Noole," an old Irish caretaker in a country home. Dorothy O'Barry will play "Peggy," a beautiful Irish colleen; Edwin Case will be "Patrick," a lad much in love with the fair Peggy, and her other suitor, "Robert," will be enacted by Arnold Sheriff.

Geneva Holmes will be "Mary," much in love with Robert, and other roles will be "Agnès," played by Elaine Flanders, and "Rosie," by Ruth Swanson. Duncan Harolds and Irene Chambliss will have the difficult part of accompanists and between acts will be a quaint and beautiful dance to be given by Dorothy Gamman, accompanied by Maxine Jeffers.

"Bits O' Blarney" opens with a chorus of girls, mourning because their sweethearts have all left them for the fair Peggy. They follow her wherever she goes, much to her displeasure. She tells them they must all return to their first loves, which they do after a chain of amusing happenings, helped along by old Mike. Those who wish to know the further developments of the gay and musical little plot, will learn them at tonight's performance in the high school.

Famous Cook Will Give Advice to Housewives

New ways of preparing old foods, and old ways applied to new foods, will offer fascinating possibilities to Santa Ana housewives this week, when they will be privileged to attend a four days' cooking school, through the courtesy of that agent whereby they do all their cooking, the Southern Counties Gas company.

For that public service utility, has secured Miss Elsie Hinkley, graduate of the Lewis Institute, Chicago, and an expert on the preparation of foods, to conduct such a class, in the quarters on the second floor of the Santa Ana office, 207 West Second street, usually devoted to meetings of the famous Efficiency club.

Beginning this afternoon, Miss Hinkley will present a series of talks, new recipes, demonstrations of food preparation, and all manner of advice and suggestions for the benefit of housewives.

Today's talk was to be devoted to the preparation of baked products, and have as its theme, "Baking Day Made Easy."

"Home at 6 o'clock is the rather intriguing talk promised for Wednesday afternoon at 2, and Miss Hinkley will instruct those housewives who are socially inclined (and who is not?) they may eat their cake—out at parties—and have it too—at home in the process of preparation for dinner. Bread, rolls and other things that a hungry husband needs and wants, no matter how busy a wife may be, having a good time, will be discussed.

Thursday will be given over to telling how to prepare a planked fish dinner, with all its accessories, so that those who attend, may go right home and plan their next day's dinner. "Cakes and Icings," a subject ever dear to the heart of the home cook—will occupy the time Friday afternoon and complete the series.

Miss Hinkley has been generous enough to ask housewives to bring their cooking problems to her for her judgment and aid in solving them. The series of lectures, demonstrations and round table discussions, is expected to attract hundreds of women for each afternoon. And such an increased interest will undoubtedly increase the demand on the gas mains to such an extent that the Southern Counties' will have to add to its equipment very materially.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Young Married People's Class
Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hemmen were friendly hosts to the members of the Young Married People's class at a jolly party held last Friday evening in the banquet room of the church.

Pink sweet peas and roses were used in decorating. Aeroplanes, rides, balloon races, a bean contest and an exciting grunton hunt were among the various enjoyable games of the evening.
Refreshments of "candle salad," cream puffs and coffee were served by the entertainment committee. The class will hold a beach party on one of June's moonlight nights.

Summer Season Opens At Forest Home on Memorial Day

Summer has come to the mountains, and there was no more popular or delightful spot to be found by Memorial day crowds, than Forest Home, that resort so loved by the Southland in general and by Santa Ana in particular.

Forest Home was Mecca for hundreds seeking the charms of a holiday in the mountains, and every cabin had its occupants while camping spots were in demand the entire length of the canyon. Mountain trails rang with laughter and merry voices, and therein itself was the center of all gaiety.

Saturday night was gala night when the dancing floor at the big pavilion was bright with pretty girls in sports frocks and tall men in white flannels.

Santa Ana cottagers were there in all their joy in the opening of the season. Mr. and Mrs. John E. Goven were in their cottage, and Mrs. Runyan was at hers for the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. John Cochran who opened their cabin a month ago, welcomed as guests, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kay and young son, James Walter Kay, former Santa Anans whose home is now in Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cloyes opened the Cloyes cabin and entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Roach. Mrs. Edith Thatcher and Miss Eleanor Thatcher had the Fred Rowland places and in the Chapman cabin was a merry group composed of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bain and their small son.

Dr. and Mrs. Cassius Paul had as guests in the Paul cabin, Miss Helen Walker and Gene Douglas. Mr. and Mrs. William G. Knox and Miss Marion Knox were at their place for the week-end, as were many others too numerous to mention.

Japanese Screen Star Leaves the Movies for Love

TOKIO, May 31.—Miss Yoshiko Okada, one of Japan's most renowned young screen stars who "walked out" in the middle of an expensive production of "Camille" and eloped with her leading man, informs her public that she is sorry, in a way.

She is sorry, she says, because she had to quit the picture after numbers of costly scenes depicting her in the title role had been "shot," but she insists that love is vastly more important than all the movies in the world and that she is through with the cinema forever. The producers agree with her because they discharged her after she had quit.

Miss Okada and her leading man, Ryochi Takenouchi, were out on open locations near Hakone when they decided their great love could not wait for any moving picture. Takenouchi is a grandson of Baron Takenouchi who was created a peer because of his services during the Russo-Japanese war.

Relatives Plan Party For Housewarming And Birthday

Combining a housewarming with a birthday celebration, close relatives of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Burrell staged a delightful surprise on them last Saturday evening, in their home at 812 Lowell street.

Mr. and Mrs. Burrell recently came to mOdon, Ind., to make their home in Southern California, where half a hundred members of their family, already established, were waiting with a warm welcome. This welcome was expressed in the party of Saturday night, for which the Rev. W. E. Edgin had planned a solemn and beautiful housewarming service.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Love and Miss Sarah Love, who accompanied Mrs. Love's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burrell, from Odon, and will also reside here, were taken into the secret so that the conspirators would be certain of finding their hosts at home. Mrs. George Hagle of Fullerton, who just celebrated her nineteenth birthday, knocked on the door, and while her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Burrell, were greeting her, the other guests trooped in through the back door, calling greetings and congratulations.

In the dedicatory service written by the Rev. Mr. Edgin, the beautiful stories of Ruth and Naomi and of Mary and Martha were related, a number of hymns pertaining to home joys were sung, and among the impressive prayers offered was Henry Van Dyke's "Prayer of Dedication." The poem, "Jesus, Mary and Joseph," was read by Miss Elizabeth Crooks and Mrs. Edgin read "The Hearth Fire." The service closed with the Van Dyke prayer offered by the Rev. Mr. Edgin, and the chorus singing of "O Father, Thou Who Gavest All."

The guests took great pleasure in presenting a handsome mirror to their hosts for their new home, and then turned their attention to serving the refreshing punch and the towering birthday cakes, bearing candles in honor of Mr. Burrell's seventy-third birthday.

Those present in addition to the hosts and their family, were the Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edgin, of this city; Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Culmer, Mayor and Mrs. H. H. Crooke, their daughter and their three sons and their wives, Miss Elizabeth Crooke, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Crooke, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Crooke and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crooke; Mr. and Mrs. Grover Walters and son Bob, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Smiley and Mr. and Mrs. Ely Biggs of Fullerton; Mrs. Frank Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Edgin and sons, Bob and Philip, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Edith Chrisman of Redondo.

Stitch 'n Time Club In Pleasant Meeting

Mrs. R. W. Clary proved a delightful hostess recently when the Stitch-'n-Timers invaded her lovely home on West Nineteenth street prepared to spend a few hours with their over-flowing sewing baskets. Radio music was enjoyed and after a short business session the guests were soon interested in a vegetable art contest in which prizes were involved. Because the tomato that Mrs. Harold Finley painted looked real enough to eat, she was promptly awarded the first prize, while Mrs. Herbert G. Clayton had to be "consoled."

Mrs. Glenford Griffin was the birthday honoree, and was presented with a lovely gift from the club. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses to the following members: Mrs. Ellen Rosier, Mrs. Glenford Griffin, Mrs. Harold Finley, Mrs. Herbert J. Clayton, Mrs. C. E. Rosier, Mrs. Elmer Reed, Mrs. Harry Rosier, Mrs. Thomas Mahan and Mrs. R. W. Clary.

Community Players

The Barn, that delightfully bohemian rendezvous of Santa Ana community Players, again to leap into activity, after a few weeks when, in theatrical parlance, it has been dark.

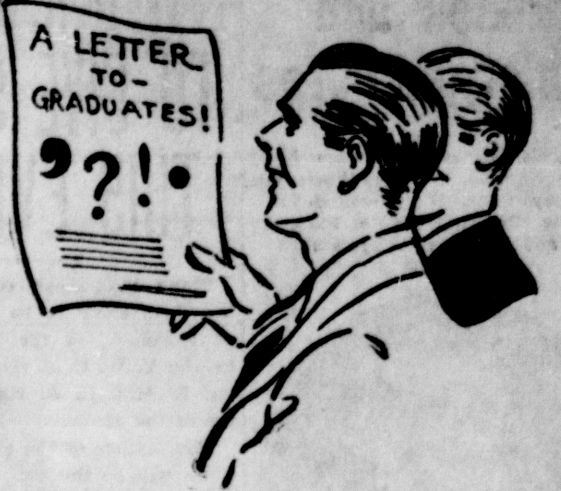

But on Thursday night, the monthly meetings at The Barn will be resumed, according to notices sent out by Arthur E. Collins, entertainment chairman of the Players. The Community Players' season which just ended with "Smiling Through" at the Temple theater, was so arranged that productions came at the first of each month, thus interfering with the monthly meeting at The Barn, which is always on the first Thursday night.

The present plan is to resume activities and continue the meetings through the summer months instead of observing mid-summer vacation as has been the custom. It is felt that such lapses cause the members to lose that close touch considered essential to the advancement of the organization and its interests.

A program has been arranged for Thursday evening and a 100 per cent attendance is asked—and hoped for. Also Mr. Collins has asked for suggestions for future monthly programs.

Members are informed that they may dispense with the customary sandwiches next Thursday night as the committee plans to serve ice cream and cake.

COAL INDUSTRY IN ENGLAND GAINING

LONDON, May 31.—Positions in the coal industries of the United States and Great Britain have been exactly changed with the passage of a single year's time. British coal operators who last year were facing bankruptcy owing to the great British mine strike while at the same time American coal operators were growing fat on the export trade, now are recouping their losses by shipping coal to markets formerly supplied by the United States.

According to figures recently disclosed, coal shipments from South Wales in a week's time showed an increase of 170,000 tons. The shipments reached the exceptionally high total of 576,319 tons, and established a fresh record for weekly shipments during recent years.

In industrial quarters it is an open secret that there has been a material lessening of American competition in markets supplied by Welsh coal exporters with the opening of the bituminous strike in the United States.

Scottish shipments as a whole also increased 16,000 tons. Proof that this rise may be attributed to the American strike is seen in the fact that the northeast coast exports for the Scotland fell by 38,000 tons. The northeast coast is chiefly affected by continental competition, and this is as severe as ever.

Ohio Executive Vetoes Plan for Dog Warden Job

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 31.—The tendency of legislators to extend the regulation of the habits, amusements and duties of the citizenship is not shared by Gov. Vic. Donahay, Ohio's three-term chief executive, who is the target of considerable preconception discussion of presidential possibilities.

The governor set forth his views on regulation at considerable length and with his customary blunt phraseology in vetoing a bill submitted to him by the state legislature, providing for the creation of "dog wardens" throughout the state, to "seize and impound on sight all unlicensed dogs."

"The very words 'dog warden' do not have a pleasant sound," began the governor's veto message. He particularly objected to the provision for "dog wardens and their deputies to patrol their counties."

"Have we not enough of spies, informers, detectives, harassing the taxpayers, without adding more officers, more spies, more informers, more inspectors?" said the governor.

Italian Air Men Must Not Marry Under 30 Years

ROME, May 31.—The minister of aeronautics, Sig. Mussolini, has presented to the council of ministers the draft of a law forbidding any Italian military or naval aviator to marry before the age of 30. "The serenity of will and spirit essential to the aviator may well be impaired by early marriage," says the text of the proposal.

Another reason, of course, is a natural preference for bachelors in such dangerous work as against married men, who might be more anxious to save their lives in aerial combat. Renewed emphasis on Italian aviation occurs day by day. At the end of the Corso Umberto, Rome's main street, an enormous sign has appeared, "Young Fascist Italians! Serve and Save Your Country in the Army of the Skies!"

Preacher Tells Sleepy Audience To Shake Selves

LONDON, May 31.—The admonition of the bishop of Pretoria to his sleepy audience, to get up and shake themselves, recalls an incident which occurred many years ago in a Methodist chapel in Cornwall. The lay, or "local" preacher, as he is called there, noticed during the sermon that his congregation was becoming somnolent. He therefore said in a loud voice, "I see, my brethren, you're going to sleep. Wake up, my brethren, wake up. Then passing from the general to the particular, he continued: "I see Jan Tregeze, up in the gallery there. Jan's going to sleep. Whereupon Jan in a shrill voice from the gallery replied: "No, he isn't, but he wishes he were!"

PROHIBITION'S FIVE ORIGINAL LEADERS MEET

WESTERVILLE, O., May 31.—Thirty-four years ago, on May 24, a little group gathered in a room in the old Spear library, on the Oberlin college campus.

There were 14 present, ministers, professors and tradesmen. That meeting, from the results that followed, is compared by some to the meeting at which the Boston tea party was planned. The 14 did not plan to dump tea into the river, but to dump rum into oblivion. From it grew the Anti-saloon league, and from that came national prohibition.

The quiet, conservative folk that gathered there that night little dreamed of what was to come.

Their meeting opened with a prayer and ended with adoption of resolutions providing:

That a state anti-liquor movement be started to enlist the churches and moral forces against the saloons in Ohio.

That the first union meeting of the churches be held at the "First Church," Oberlin, on Sunday evening, June 4, 1893.

That the alliance would undertake to raise at the meeting and by private canvass at least $500 per year for a period of three years.

That Howard Hyde Russell be employed as superintendent, at a salary, provided all other expenses were paid, of $2000 per year.

The first amount was raised, and Dr. Russell soon afterwards opened the first offices of the Anti-saloon league in a back room in Columbus, rented for $3 per month. The legislature was petitioned for county local option laws and other legislation.

Churches got behind the organization, and it flourished, for weal or woe, depending upon the point of view. Paid workers were established in larger cities, and, inspired by local victories, the organization turned to congress.

That rest is history. Of the 14 men but five are left alive. They are: Dr. Russell, now associate general superintendent of the league; J. T. Henderson, president of Oberlin Business college; Andrew G. Comings, then and now college book dealer; Rev. Henry M. Tenny, then pastor of the Second Congregational church of Oberlin, now living in retirement at Webster Grove, Mo., and Azariah S. Root, then and now librarian at Oberlin college.

On the anniversary this little group will gather again in the library room.

Over glasses of ice water they'll discuss old friends and look back over the fight they started.

KIPLING WRITINGS HAVE BEEN FOUND

LONDON, May 31.—At a recent meeting of the Kipling society, one of the members gave an account of certain writings by Kipling that have never been published.

He quoted some of the author's less-known prose and poetry, and said that some of the verses, notably those from "Job's Wife" and "Thoughts of a Felon Awaiting Execution" from "Schoolboy Lyrics," were written at the age of 12. "Plain Tales from the Hills" originally comprised 39 stories. Ten were omitted from the published version and two of these had not been published.

Speaking of pirated editions, he said that one published in Santiago did not sell, and the publisher ultimately sold the copies at five cents per kilo to get rid of them. He had the mortification of learning later that a single copy of the same work brought £128.

The Kipling society has 300 members and expects to have 3000 soon. Among the things they hope for are branches all over the country, affiliated local societies, and a central Kipling library in London.

Angler Given Job To Get 600 Trout

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 31.—James Horiskey of the communications department of the Union Pacific Railroad company, is an ardent angler who hopes to catch trout "as big as they grow," but he's up against an angling proposition far too big for him, or any other individual, to handle without assistance.

He has been commissioned to provide 600 trout for a dinner which is to be given by June 11 by the Union Pacific Old Timers Club No. 1 in honor of Vice President E. E. Calvin of the U. P., who, on that date, will complete 50 years of service with the corporation. Inasmuch as the fish must be caught within 24 hours of the time they are to be served Horiskey is recruiting a battalion of expert anglers to raid streams within 150 miles of Cheyenne.

SIXTEEN FROM COUNTY TO GO TO DEL MONTE

Orange county persons who attended the citizens military training camp at Del Monte will be placed in one company, it was announced here today by Major A. S. Ralph, in charge of local applications for the training. Major Ralph today received a telegram from Lieut. Col. William O'Laughlin of the infantry training corps at Del Monte, informing him that Orange county men would be placed in Company G.

The training camp opens June 26 and will close July 26. Sixteen applications to the Del Monte camp were approved today, according to Major Ralph.

The sixteen men whose applications were approved include seven from Santa Ana, eight from Anaheim and one from Garden Grove. Major Ralph today commended the interest of Santa Ana and Anaheim young men in the training camp. The major also announced that a few more applications could be taken care of if they were submitted to him this week.

Several other applications have been sent to Del Monte and several others to Fort MacArthur, it was stated. The Fort MacArthur training will specialize on coast defense and citizens attending the camp at San Pedro will be given an excellent opportunity to study the coast defense guns.

Among those whose applications have been approved for the Del Monte camp are Eugene H. Brown, Ira D. Graham, Jerome S. Pribyl, Kenneth C. Price, Edward M. Shepherd, Thomas H. Smith and Thomas F. Taylor Jr., of Santa Ana; George W. Burroughs, Otto H. Clodt, William K. Dutton, Albert N. Kluthe, Herman E. Lentz, Burl B. Mayo, Victor H. Peltzer and Vernon S. Rockwell, of Anaheim; and Kenneth W. Harris, of Garden Grove.

English Woman Travels Around World 6 Times

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—To have journeyed six times around the world and never to have written a line about it is some distinction, according to Gertrude Emily Benham, British explorer, who boasts that accomplishment. She has arrived from the Orient on the N. Y. K. liner Ginyo Maru, and after a sojourn here will sail for Guatemala.

Across these 24,000 miles the traveler has had only one companion, a sturdy umbrella, which she has poked into more out-of-the-way places than most noses have been poked.

For instance, there was deepest Africa. No white person accompanied Miss Benham, only the umbrella, and into such fastnesses as made the native guests falter. Up the slippery sides of Mount Kilimanjaro went the umbrella, up to its volcanic peak piercing the sky at 19,700 feet, and never before scaled by a British subject. Across the Himalayas, into the frigid Siberian wastes, and on the island of Mauritius the pair were inseparable.

In her journeyings Miss Benham has studied the flora and fauna of strange lands, sketched the flowers above the snow line and gathered hundreds of curios off the beaten paths. All these have gone or will be bequeathed to an English museum. They will be her contribution to the enrichment of society, but never a stroke of the pen.

French Officer Crosses Sahara In Record Time

ALGIERS, May 31.—Rolling 11-100 miles in a vest pocket sized automobile through the vast Sahara in 36 days, a young French officer, Lieutenant Etienne, has just ended a trip that is a splendid example of both human energy and skill.

Lieutenant Etienne left Paris January 7 and the next day his tiny six horsepower car hummed out of Colomb-Béchar, Morocco, to follow the trails over the sand hills and barren valleys. For hours at a time he covered the long, hot stretches, making on the average 110 miles a day and stopping only for brief rests at occasional military outposts.

When he reached Lake Chad and the river Niger, he cut across British Nigeria, visited some places in French black Africa and then made his way to Algiers via El-Golea, Ghardaia and Laghouat, towns well known to Saharan tourists. Lieutenant Etienne arrived here in perfect health and with his car in good condition.

Prisoners Plans Of Escape, Found

SANTA FE, N. M., May 31.—A delivery of prisoners in the New Mexico state penitentiary was frustrated when Warden Patrick J. Dugan apprehended two inmates in the act of working on a tunnel which extended for 18 feet underground to within a few feet of the prison wall.

The two men, who were immediately placed in solitary confinement, are Jesus Rocha, 28 years old, serving 10 years for larceny, and Carlos Mesa, serving five to 15 years for burglary. Rocha was once sentenced to death for the killing of a jailer at Silver City, but was deported to Mexico.

It is believed that six other prisoners were connected with the construction of the tunnel, which is said to have been started three years ago, and would have been completed within a short time, resulting in the escape of many prisoners.

Your Best Friends Drink this Water

You, Too, May Enjoy the Added Health It Brings to Everyone—

DRINKING water, food and exercise are the elements of good health. Each plays a fundamental part in your well-being—your daily work—your success or possible failure.

In your daily work you care for your home, your business, your loved ones. But how often do you overlook your own body, which after all is of primary importance compared to anything else you know.

Good drinking water, for example, is most important. Eight-tenths of the weight of your body consists of water. Yet so often we even give a thought to the kind of water we are drinking.

Pure water, for instance, is a term that is often mistaken for healthful water. This is explained by the fact that pure water is not always healthful. Purity is just one requirement of healthful water. There are two other requirements with which healthful water must conform. They are as follows—three in all:

1. Purity,
2. Minerals,
3. Good to Taste.

Purity protects health by eliminating disease germs, bacteria and other harmful substances found in water.

Minerals in a water (8 to 10 grains per gallon) is Nature's way of preventing devitalization or over-mineralization.

Good to Taste is a recognized requirement in water. It is Nature's final stamp of approval on healthful drinking water.

These three tests of drinking water are recommended by authorities everywhere. They are your surety of health in the water you drink.

These huge glass-lined tanks carry Arrowhead Spring Water to various bottling divisions where it is certified pure and bottled for consumption in your home.

Railway, Pacific-Southwest Bank, the Bank of Italy, University of Southern California, and the Parent-Teachers' Association, for example, are regular consumers of Arrowhead Spring Water.

Peter B. Kyne, Lon Chaney, Harold Lloyd, Blanche Sweet, H. W. Robinson and George S. Allen are among a few of the hundreds of eminently successful people who drink Arrowhead.

Try a 5-gallon bottle of this famous water yourself. It costs but 50 cents—less than 1/4 of per glass. We furnish standard cooler free. It is delivered in each day—the same as if drank it at Arrowhead Springs miles away! We bring it to Angeles in huge glass-lined tanks and deliver it to you as Nature intended it should be—fresh, sparkling and full of natural health and purity.

Tradition prescribes that we bring gifts to the bride—not only to the new bride, but quite as much in honor of her to whom the dignity and grace of years have been added.

Here Comes the Bride!

The long awaited "yes" has been said—and she is, from now on, more concerned with the intricacies of "something old and something new" than anything else this dear old world has to offer.

Father, Mother, Sister, Brother, Relatives and Friends are all enlisted in the Gift campaign. Every gift must be chosen with serious forethought—for there is something about a gift that makes it welcome or precious.

LIGHT SYSTEM
THIS MORNING

Installations Will Cost Approximately $30,000
On 3 Downtown Streets

CONDUITS TO BE UNDERGROUND

Light Poles Will Be Used
Thus Making System
Over District Uniform

Work in progress today in construction of an ornamental light system on portions of d, Fourth and Sycamore streets, the contract let for a system, Main street, Santa Ana today on the way to stepping into the cities in the southland receded because of the extensive of such systems and for their brightly lighted streets.

Edward Bernard, who was awarded contract for the Third, Sycamore and Fourth street system, had a force of men working on installation of underground conduits to carry the wires that supply juice to the standards. Conduits are being run along edge of the sidewalk, with side-suffering in consequence.

The system on Third street will extend from French to Ross street. Fourth, the old one-lamp standard are to be replaced between French and Ross streets with modern, lamp poles. The installation Sycamore street will be from French to Church street. The group installations, all under one contract, cost $30,248. Bernard won the contract on his bid at these figures. The system is included in the remodeling work now in progress on Main street. The new lights run from First street south to French street. The Robertson electric company will do the work. The poles will be used in all the installations, the adopted being a duplication of that used in the standards on Broadway and West Fifth streets.

Talking Pictures
Meet Opposition

PARIS, May 31.—Opposition to "talking" film has grown to an extent in France that a "League of Silence" to combat it has been formed by number of cinema critics and producers. It is a "wonderful invention," the critics, "but that is no guarantee that it stands for real art, as far as the art of the cinema is concerned."

PRINCE IS ENGAGED
ROME, May 31.—Henna of Rumania and Jose, of Belgium, seem to have lost out in the race for heart and hand of the most beautiful royal bachelorette next to the queen of Wales. It is stated that engagement of Crown Prince Albert will be announced shortly and that his choice is Princess Maria Adelaide, his first cousin and daughter of the king of Genoa. The princess is at Turin, where the prince is duty as an army captain.

Traffic Here
On Monday
Is Checked Up

An idea of the amount of automobile traffic through Santa Ana last night may be gained from a check made by Mac O. Robbins. Robbins, who lives on North Main street, kept a check on cars passing his house at an average of 27 per minute or 1600 per hour. He estimated that there were three persons in every car. In other words there were approximately 5000 persons passing a given point every hour.

CAMPUS "Y" OF
LOCAL COLLEGE
HOLD MEETING

Activities of the Campus "Y" for next year at the Santa Ana college were outlined at the meeting of the new cabinet members when they held their retreat to Camp Lewis over the past week end. Fourteen of the college students with McKee Fisk, faculty advisor, went on the outing.

Discussions were held concerning ways and means of fostering college life for the next year. Suggestions were made for receiving the freshmen students at the opening of the fall term in September. Comprehensive plans for the Campus "Y" were made by the committee chairmen covering the activities of the entire year. The retreat was held over Saturday and Sunday, Melvin Harter, president of the "Y," had charge of the sessions.

Saturday evening, a general discussion, lead, by McKee Fisk, was held in the camp cabin for the purpose of formulating a general policy of the college "Y" in promoting the interests of the Santa Ana college during the coming year. The Sunday meetings were devoted to the special committee duties.

German Imposter
Found In Berlin

BERLIN, May 31.—A handsome man, possessing the "cutting manner" cherished in a German officer, and accompanied by his "sister," appeared some time ago in Frankfurt. In Würzburg his strongly nationalistic opinions brought him in touch with the best people, and he soon became acquainted with a lady who was willing to bear his name, as well as lend him money.

During the army maneuvers in Wurtemberg he followed the operations in full uniform and was presented to President Hindenburg and ex-Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, with whom he was photographed.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Sir Arthur Rostren, master of the Berengaria, knows card sharks and their ways. A Yorkshireman lost $6000. "What was the sequence of the three winning cards" asked the captain. Informed, he sent for two other passengers, saying: "I know that game." Under threat of arrest, the two men handed back the Yorkshireman's check.

FIRST HONORS

EVERARD STOVALL

SANTA ANA LAD
MEDAL WINNER
AT EISTEDDFOF

A gold medal was presented Everard Stovall, youthful Santa Ana musical genius, as winner in the advanced piano division of the Southern California Eisteddfod contests at the exercises held last Friday night in the Gamut club, Los Angeles, when the prize winners were given their awards.

Stovall, although a lad of only 13 years, entered the open section of the piano group and repeated his triumphs for Santa Ana, Orange county and finally for Southern California in successive contests.

He was the youngest contestant for the honors. Instead of entering the division for musicians of his age, Stovall chose to go into the unlimited group, open to advanced musicians. The fact that Stovall won the first prize against some of the outstanding musicians of the Southland reflects much merit on his ability.

At the same time, prizes were presented to Beatrice Grana, and Audrey Grana, Santa Ana girls, who won high honors in the Southern California musical contests. Beatrice received two first prizes, in piano and interpretive reading, and Audrey won third place in the violin division of her class.

BACHELORS TO PLAN

The election of new officers for next year will be conducted at the banquet.

Formal initiation of Superintendents J. A. Cranston and President D. K. Hammond as honorary members of the Bachelors is to be held at the banquet.

The date for the social affair is to be set tonight. Van Rensselaer said that an evening next week would probably be selected.

PARK PROGRAM
IN CALIFORNIA
PROVIDED FOR

Governor Young Signing
Measure Introduced by Breed Assures Action

The action of Governor Young in signing the Breed state park bills means the development of a comprehensive state park program for California. It means that the state will at once take steps to effect an efficient administration of its disorganized park properties by placing them under one commission empowered to preserve, protect and administer them. It means further, that a comprehensive state park plan will be developed under this commission through a park survey which they are empowered to make during the next two years, and that the voters of the state will have the opportunity in November, 1928, of determining whether California shall carry out a $12,000,000 program for the preservation of its outstanding scenic and recreational areas, through the passage of a $6,000,000 bond issue to be matched with an equal amount raised by subscription.

"At last California is to make the most of one of her greatest assets," said Duncan McDuffie, chairman of the state parks committee, which has conducted the campaign for the passage of the park legislation and will be active in promoting the passage of the $6,000,000 bond issue. "Next to our fertile soil, California's greatest single asset is the opportunity the state offers for outdoor life. No industry except agriculture puts as much money into circulation in California as do hundreds of thousands of visitors who come here seeking after health, recreation, pleasure, sport and out-of-door life generally. Yet gradually many of the attractions that have made the state famous are being destroyed like our redwood groves, and are passing to private ownership like the Monterey coast line."

The state parks committee points out that the state already owns 9000 acres of redwood forest in the Big Basin state park in Santa Cruz county; 3000 acres of redwoods in Humboldt and Del Norte counties, with the prospect of a much larger area being preserved along the already famous "Redwood highway"; the Mount Diablo state park of 650 acres in Contra Costa county, and the park at spectacular Burney Falls, Shasta county—over 13,000 acres in all. These parks have now no unity of administration or policy. And, splendid as they are, they are only the beginning of a real park system representative of the entire state.

Then there are the "monuments." The Pio Pico Mansion in Los Angeles, a monument at the battlefield of San Pasqual in San Diego, the Old Theater at Monterey, the landing place of Junipero Serra, the mission at Sonoma, Old Fort Ross, Marshall's blacksmith shop, and the place where gold was discovered near Placerville are a few of the interesting monuments, already state-owned, that would come within the provisions of the program.

All of these properties of the state, according to the legislation just approved, will be administered by the newly created department of natural resources, through the agency of a state park commission of five representative citizens appointed by the governor, serving without salary. There will be a chief of the division of parks appointed by the director of the department of natural resources, upon recommendation of the state park commission. He will be the administrative officer for all of California's parks. Under him will be the various rangers, caretakers, and other officers of the park system.

It is expected that as soon as organized, the new state park commission will undertake the systematic survey of the state, as authorized by senate bill 440, in order to determine what areas not now included in the state park system should be so included. This survey will take into account the needs of the entire state of California from the standpoint of recreation and the preservation of outstanding areas of scenic, scientific and historic interest.

SHE RULES LOUISIANA

Floods failed to halt the celebration of Louisiana day at the state normal college at Natchitoches, La., where 3000 students acclaimed Miss Pauline Olmstead, of Monroe, as queen of the festivities. Monroe is a Memorial day address delivered at Birch park, predicted that unless the nations found some way of settling their disputes except by appeal to arms, the whole fabric of civilization might be swept away by a stroke of the pen.

ANITA STEWART
BEING FILMED
IN S. A. CANYON

Santa Ana today played hostess to a number of motion picture celebrities, members of the Harry S. Webb Productions, Hollywood, who, being registered at St Ann's Inn, are completing a series of scenes at the Lasky location in the Santa Ana canyon. The scenes to be filmed here form part of a picture, entitled "The Island of Sunk-en Gold" featuring life in the South Sea Islands.

Foremost among the cinema stars are Miss Anita Stewart, famous motion picture actress who appeared in the "Great White Way" and "Ne'er the Twain Shall Meet," and Bruce Gordon, prominent Hollywood star. Other members of the company assigned to leading parts are Duke Kahamuku, famous Hawaiian swimmer, and Miss Lellani, who as Miss "Honolulu" represented the Hawaiian Islands at the national beauty contest held two years ago in Atlantic City. Another well known figure in the company is Vincent Howard. Harry S. Webb is the director and Jay J. Bryan, former Culver City banker, acts as business manager. After spending about three days in the Santa Ana canyon, the company will go to Balboa for the completion of certain sea scenes, following which the players will proceed to Laguna Beach for completion of the picture.

Admit Women to

PARIS, May 31.—France's feminist editor, Mme. Marguerite Durand, and her chief editorial writer, Severine, are the first women journalists of France to be admitted to membership in the Paris Journalists' house, headquarters for Paris newswriters.

Other women journalists are expected to be admitted to the organization soon. Madame Durand is probably the best known of the many women journalists in France, having founded "La Fronde," the feminist daily paper, in 1897.

FERVENT PLEA
EXPRESSED BY JAMES WALTON

Speaker at Memorial Day
Exercises Here Would Do
Away with Future Wars

INTERNATIONAL
GOOD WILL URGED

State Superintendent of Anti-Cigaret League Is Principal Speaker Here

Voicing a fervent plea for peace and international good will, James A. Walton, state superintendent of the Anti-Cigarette league, Los Angeles, yesterday afternoon, in a Memorial day address delivered at Birch park, predicted that unless the nations found some way of settling their disputes except by appeal to arms, the whole fabric of civilization might be swept away by a stroke of the pen.

The address formed a part of the services held under the auspices of Sedgwick post, No. 17, Grand Army of the Republic, Santa Ana.

Walton said: "War between nations has always been, and is now, perfectly legal. The Kaiser violated no known law by declaring war in 1914. War is so terrible an instrument, so far-reaching in its destruction, that its use in our present-day civilization, jeopardizes the life of that civilization. The appeal to arms should be forever outlawed. If we say that this is impossible, then we deny to man the one opportunity which is his, to settle disputes without warfare. At one stroke, we throw down the whole principle of civilization that has been built up for centuries. If we deny that man cannot arbitrate and settle disputes then we must admit that all progress to date is built on a foundation of sand. I believe that even there may be a great difference of opinion, the solution of every problem is possible through arbitration."

Desire for Peace
"Every great leader has emphasized his desire for peace. Gen. U. S. Grant, General Pershing and President Harding have favored peace. Contemplating the measureless cost of war, and the continuous burden of armament, all thoughtful people wish for real limitation of armaments, and would like to see war outlawed."

Touching upon the feat of Charles A. Lindbergh, the American ace who crossed the Atlantic in an airplane, the speaker went on to say, "Let us lay great strength of emphasis upon those things which make for the betterment of mankind. One lone youth, flying through thousands of miles of space, to the shores of France, a pioneer in ocean passenger traffic, has done more to break down the animosities than the kindly offices of a hundred diplomats."

Turning to significance of the day, Walton continued: "This is the day of hallowed memories. Men and women gather throughout the nation today and place their tributes of love upon the graves of the soldiers who have passed on. To every soldier present, there wings in, from memory's fields, the comradeship of days that are gone. Was it yesterday, or three score years and more ago, a comrade stood by your side, through the thick of the fighting, and you saw him go down, never to rise again. You may not be privileged to lay upon that grave, a memorial

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS in ROBIN HOOD

"A marvelous entertainment for grown-ups. Aside from this, however, Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood" has the educational qualifications that make a truly great picture. I strongly recommend high school boys and girls to see Mr. Fairbanks' portrayal of Robin Hood for it visualizes the days of old far better than any text book."—Peter Brady, Chairman of Education, State Federation of Labor, New York State.

It is an enlightening visualization of a spirit of stirring times bygone in "terms" which the great public in this ultra-modern age will understand, appreciate and enjoy.

wreath, but upon the graves of those who are here, you drop your tribute of love, and in your heart, you carry a picture of the "Buddy" who fought shoulder to shoulder with you, across the seas, or in Dixie, or San Juan. This day, then, is one of cherished memories, and the soldiers and friends who have gathered here today, honor the dead, by their presence.

Day Is Sacred

"This day is sacred in the hearts of all true Americans."

"For many, it is a time of deep sorrow. Dear ones lie beneath the soil, which was dyed with blood, that we might enjoy the privileges of a hard won independence."

"Our hearts should go out in deepest sympathy to the bereaved ones. There are mothers here today who can never forget the splendid boys they sent across the seas, who never came back, and this thought should be uppermost in our minds, that these sacrifices of today, these sorrows that grip the hearts of men and women, should never again recur. That every effort should be made, to put war out of the scheme of our civilization. Those who sacrificed their lives, did so, in order that other boys might not be called to a similar service."

"Let us not forget this. For those who remain, maimed, and bereaved, and how many thousands there are of them, not alone in our own land, but across the seas, soldiers of other nations, should receive diligent consideration."

"Nothing we can do will ever repay these patriots, who sacrificed their fondest hopes, in order that we might enjoy the liberties of today, except kind deeds and thoughtful assistance, that may in some small way, assist in paying our debt to them. Every soldier should receive such consideration, as is deemed worthy, without having to make appeal to the government for it. We will help in every way possible, to give our war veterans opportunity to provide suitable futures for themselves, and their loved ones. We will assist in every legitimate movement, to recompense them wherever possible."

A feature of the exercises, which included the reading of General Logan's General Order No. 11, prescribing the observance of Memorial day, was the reading by Mrs. F. T. Porter of a poem written by her and dedicated to the Santa Ana members of the Grand Army of the Republic.

BRAVO OLD GUARD

Bravo! old guard.

Our eyes are filled with tears: These broken ranks of yesteryears Suggesting dear and missing faces. We grieve to see their vacant places:

And yet—for them and you we cheer. They scout new paths, and you are here.

Bravo! old guard.

You stand for us today Reminders of the price men pay For justice, home and native land. And for this day you fought and planned.

How can we stoop, how can we fear For you, old guard, we shout and cheer.

Bravo! old guard.

This day, this hour to us is sweet. This tribute and this honor meet. Again we glimpse your courage high As memory's star lights each dim eye. And we too feel the faith that led You on, though comrades fell and bled.

Bravo! old guard.

We joy to see you, shake your hand. We'd join with you that noble band That knows no fear but stains of wrong; And greets even death with triumph's song. We glory in the tales you tell Of those who fought not long, so well.

Bravo! old guard.

You've "carried on" through all the years. We've leaned on you through storms and fears. And through the wars of creeds and greed We need your counsel yet to heed. Our torch seems dim and darkness nears. Old guard lead on till day appears.

Bravo! old guard.

We know earth's sun for each

PROHIBITION LAW MEETS DISFAVOR

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 31.—The

Illinois house of representatives for the second time this session has turned thumbs down on prohibition. It voted 80 to 63 for a statewide referendum on repeal of the state prohibition enforcement laws, including the search and seizure act.

The Chicago delegation, voting almost solidly for repeal, had the support of 23 downstate representatives, almost equally divided in party affiliation. The vote, which was on the Weber-O'Grady bill, followed a field day of oratory in which prohibition was blamed in part for agricultural depression, an increase of crime, for making "this a nation of law-breakers" and for increasing instead of decreasing drunkenness.

Representatives opposing repeal argued that as long as there is no local prohibition, it is better to have local enforcement. They declared drunkenness had been reduced and that the "wildness" of young people was not due to prohibition but to the after effects of the World war and to laxity of parental control.

The state senate has yet to act upon the bill. Ordinarily the senate is regarded as "dry," but advocates of the repeal bill believe that there is a "fighting chance" that the upper body will favor the measure. It was pointed out that the senate has shown a liberal tinge in passing the measure providing for the legalizing of pari-mutuel betting on horse races.

Three weeks ago the house voted to ask congress to call a constitutional convention to revise the eighteenth amendment.

Phone System In Sweden Extended

STOCKHOLM, May 31.—Sweden's telephone system, formerly limited to Europe, will be considerably extended in the course of this year, according to H. Rydin, head of the Swedish telegraph department. The Swedish automatic telephone, already introduced in several European countries, will be universally installed in Stockholm. Further, land cables will be laid from the capital to south Sweden hand in hand with the electrification of the Stockholm-Gothenburg railway. This telephone communication will be possible between various parts of Sweden and England, and through England as a relay point, between this country and France and Italy.

New Department Head Appointed

GOLDEN, Colo., May 31.—At a recent closed meeting of the national executive committee of the American Legion, Daniel Sowers, of Louisville, Ky., was named to succeed Dr. Frank C. Gross, of Golden, as head of the American department of the service organization.

It is said that Dr. Gross, former head of the English department of the Colorado School of Mines here, held ideas of Americanism that met with the disapproval of the committee.

Dr. Gross, who was appointed head of the Americanization department in July, 1923, is 33 years old, and a graduate of the University of Denver.

Reported Change In Fords Denied

DETROIT, Mich., May 31.—A denial that any change in the Ford car was contemplated was issued by William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent and spokesman for the Ford Motor Company, late tonight, after Mr. Cameron had read a statement by Theodore W. Kolbe, secretary of the Detroit Police Department, before the common council, that he had been informed that the company would put out a new model July 1.

$12,800 DAMAGES ASKED BY AUTOIST

Injuries alleged to have been received by C. E. Miller, of Santa Ana, when he was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. J. W. Stevens, were made the basis of a suit for $12,800 damages, filed today in superior court by Miller against Mr. and Mrs. Stevens.

Mrs. Stevens drove her roadster across the sidewalk where Miller was walking, at 1104 North Main street, Santa Ana, on May 16, he asserts. The car, he says, ran over him, breaking four ribs and injuring his head, lungs and nervous system. He demands $10,000 for the injuries, $2000 for loss of earnings during six months of disability, and $800 for medical expenses.

Attorneys Nelson and Burns are counsel for Miller.

WOMAN LIKES GOLF

DES MOINES, May 31.—The most fascinating thing in American life found by a German woman investigator is the opportunity to play golf. Dr. Ruth Welland of Berlin, who is studying social conditions, has cut the meetings of the national conference of social work quite often in order to get out on the links.

Lovely!

So much real satisfaction can be put into an article by careful, painstaking operators! Good laundry work is real economy. You don't walk up town to save a dime. You drive your car. Your time is worth too much. What you really pay for is not the laundry work, but for the time, freedom from drudgery and laundry satisfaction. You must pay—if not in cash, then in health, youth and beauty. No one can long keep up home washing without being affected by it. Incidentally you are relieved of the steam, work and enervation of washday. The cost is doubtless less than you suppose—actually cheaper than buying equipment to do the work yourself, if you figure your time worth anything. Better phone for a representative to call today.

TO REORGANIZE STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

SACRAMENTO, May 31.—The reorganization program for the state government has received its final authorization with the signing, by Gov. C. C. Young, of the bill creating a department of industrial relations, and the bill reorganizing the state board of education and considerably altering the functions exercised by it.

The new board is to consist of 10 members, to serve for four year terms, without compensation, and with the superintendent of public instruction as secretary and executive officer. The board that will be superseded is composed of seven members.

The chief change from existing laws is the definite division of powers between the board of education and the superintendent of public instruction. Heretofore, the board has exercised appointive and regulatory powers in many matters which are now left under the jurisdiction of the superintendent. The board is now to be confined almost entirely to the education of educational policies. Administration is taken out of its ken.

The new department of industrial relations will absorb the industrial accident commission, and other existing functions and will consist of five divisions, under a director who is to be a member of the governor's council. The five divisions are to be industrial accidents and safety, housing and sanitation, state employment agencies, labor statistics and law enforcement, and industrial welfare. The industrial accident commission is continued in existence as the division of industrial accidents and safety.

GERMAN RED CROSS WORKER GIVES TALK

DES MOINES, Ia., May 31.—Delegates to the National conference of social work were addressed by a representative of the German Association of Social Workers, Dr. Ruth Weiland, of Berlin, director of the children's department of the German Red Cross.

"A fact which has been of great importance for the system of German welfare work and all questions which are connected with it, is that we have in Germany a class conscious and well educated working men population," Dr. Weiland said.

"They have always represented the opinion that state and local authorities should be responsible for the welfare of the people and that the work of private organizations could only be supplementary."

The introduction of a compulsory social insurance at the close of the war is the best illustration of this feeling, the speaker stated.

The war and its attendant miseries brought private welfare organizations close together in welfare work, she said, because of the great work to be done with increased poverty on one hand and insufficient remedies on the other.

WAR TORN CHURCH IS BEING REBUILT

RHEIMS, France, May 30.—War torn Cathedral of Rheims has been reopened. M. Herriot, minister of education and fine arts, in handing the keys of the partly restored cathedral to Cardinal Luçon, archbishop of Rheims, lauded the initiative of John D. Rockefeller Jr., in aiding the rebuilding plan.

Norvon T. Herrick, the American ambassador, was present at the ceremonies, and at the subsequent luncheon, and spoke in behalf of the diplomatic corps, expressing American's joy at the reconstruction of the historic Basilica.

"If ever I am inclined to discouragement," said the ambassador, "it is among you, my fellow citizens of Rheims, I shall come to reinvigorate myself by the moving spectacle of your daily toil."

Nearly half the bombarded church has been roofed over and repaired, but it will take 25 or 30 years, architects say, to complete the restoration. The new parts gleam among the old stones and lead and glass of the structure begun 700 years ago. Fire, also, burned off the surface grime of the ages in spots and reddened the stone.

'Huck Finn' Boys Gain Prominence In City Affairs

ST. LOUIS, May 31.—The Rev. Dr. C. J. Armstrong, of Hannibal, Mo., Mark Twain's home town, pointed out in a sermon that all "Huck Finn" characters became prominent citizens.

Capt. James Brady, the only surviving companion of "Huck," is a prosperous farmer. Garth, endowed a public library and the Levering boys a hospital.

John Briggs became a successful farmer; the Levering boys and John Garth became bankers; Jim Blankenship, who was the original of "Huck Finn," became a justice of the peace.

DOCTOR CHASES BOY

NEWARK, N. J., May 31.—Dr. Henry H. Rusby, dean of the Columbia College of Pharmacy, is 73 years old, but thieves must stay away from his garden. A boy he was chasing fled in a convenient horse and wagon. The doctor caught the tailboard. The boy climbed out on the horse. At top speed they went for half a mile before the doctor halted the horse. The boy got away.

READ HIS LIFE STORY

Capt. Charles Lindbergh has been of inventive turn of mind since his early youth and his daring flight across the Atlantic ocean brought to realization his dream of such an accomplishment. His life story is appearing in The Register, beginning in today's issue.

LIFE OF CAPTAIN LINDBERGH CONTAINED IN SERIES WHICH BEGINS IN TODAY'S REGISTER

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY
United Press Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1927, by United Press)

CHAPTER ONE

Charles A. Lindbergh's greatest aversion is his own curly blond hair. He likes French pastry well enough to ask an ambassador for a second helping, but he likes pie better. As a boy he played, with the other kids and in college he liked to make experiments in the laboratories, but disliked to write up his notes, so he didn't write them.

Which are some of the things which go to show that Charles A. Lindbergh is no super man, different from other people, but is just a normal American youth, who had three outstanding characteristics, namely: complete mastery of himself, direction in life and great courage.

Before going a bit behind the scenes, one would at first think Charles Lindbergh just happened to be born blessed with luck and a darling of circumstances.

But when one is amazed at his splendid tact shown in a speech of 100 words which sends a gathering of French statesmen and citizens into wild enthusiasm, it is recalled that his father was a power to be met in politics for 20 years and his grandfather sat in the parliament of Sweden. It is realized that his heredity is one which points to such skill.

Family of Courageous
When one reads of his exquisite courage, it can be recalled that his grandfather lost his right arm having at the time to clear his homestead in the Minnesota forests and a few months later was back wielding in his left hand his great axe once more.

And it was his own father who, because he was busy, summoned a friend to an operating room where surgeons were operating on him, and for an hour while the surgeons worked, without an anesthetic, talked politics and then feared his friends, not himself, had suffered.

When one reads of his liking for mechanics and desire for attempting that which is new, it is recalled that his maternal grandfather, Dr. C. H. Land, was an inventor and was a pioneer of modern dentistry.

Thus courage, the steadfast purpose and the simplicity of Charles Lindbergh's great feat of flying the Atlantic can be traced back through years and years. One finds that the blood of the Norseman in him is mixed with the blood of the Crusaders of England, of King Richard, the Lion Hearted's day. Those are the bloods of courage; of simple thought and living.

Born In 1902
It was February 4, 1902, that this lad was born in a comfortable home in Detroit, Mich. His mother was Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh and his father Charles A. Lindbergh, lawyer and later a member of congress.

But his father was born in Sweden. But in 1860 he had come

JAPAN'S RICE CROP FAR BELOW NORMAL

TOKIO, May 31.—An official report of the department of agriculture announces that Japan's rice crop in 1926 was 20,540,000 bushels short of the crop of 1925 and over 10 million bushels below the average of the past five years.

This means that Japan will have to import some 30 million bushels to keep the food supply up to the demand until next harvest, but fortunately there were big surpluses in Indo-China and Burma and the prices have not risen on the strength of the Japanese shortage.

The total rice crop in Japan in 1926 was 277,950,000 bushels. Korea has a surplus of 30 million bushels to sell to Japan and Formosa raised 12 1/2 million bushels over its needs.

The question of a rice supply is yearly getting more serious to Japan. Last year a considerably larger acreage than usual was planted, but unfavorable weather for two months cut the yield per acre nearly 10 per cent and the total nearly seven per cent. Meanwhile the population continues to grow.

Population figures published in the Osaka Mainichi for the five years between 1921 and 1926 show the net gain per year to be: 1921, 178,854; 1922, 748,116; 1923, 797,879; 1924, 824,023; and 1925, 962,695. If the same ratio of gain is being kept up and there is nothing to show to the contrary, the net gain in population in Japan proper today is above a million a year. Statisticians calculate that Japanese require a koku of rice per head per year, a koku being just short of five bushels. Therefore Japan has to grow five million bushels a year every year, or that much more must be imported and paid for every year.

Unemployment In Wales Cause of Much Migration

CARDIFF, May 31.—Unemployment in the mining valleys of South Wales is causing to such dimensions that public bodies are becoming alarmed. In Ferndale and Mardy in the Rhondda Fach alone there are 1700 miners who have been idle since the coal stoppage.

Reliable figures as to the situation relating to the whole of the Rhondda valley are not available, but a conservative estimate states that of 13,000 men at present unemployed in the valley, 10,000 can never hope to be reabsorbed into the mining industry.

Many miners are leaving Wales for the English coal fields in the hope of finding work there, but others with their families are emigrating to Canada, the United States, Australia and New Zealand. Parties are leaving every week-end, and in one instance a miner has taken his family of 17 with him.

Gold Fish Fill Nebraska Lake

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., May 31.—Lake Huffman in the Creighton valley near Scottsbluff contains so many goldfish that the water appears red. The reason for the abundance of the tiny fish was because of a mistake made several years ago when a crew from the state fish hatchery poured a can of tiny goldfish in the lake, thinking they were another species of fish.

Over 70,000 gold fish were taken from the lake at one haul last year. A carload of the fish will be seized soon by state fish hatchery employees and taken to points in eastern Nebraska for distribution.

VIOLIN MAKER HAS PRIVATE CONCERTS

ATLANTA, May 31.—All the
world's a stage for Maya Badgett.
In it he humbly plays the part of
a violin maker.

His world, however, is tiny.
About his bench is a confused assemblage of musical instruments.
The clatter of traffic pounds in through dusty windows. But Badgett, as he works away with the knowledge that the proof of the fiddle is in the playing, would not trade his shop for a palace.

Famous personages of the musical world have made a beaten path to his place. Once a year he has a big party attended by members of the Metropolitan Opera company. Once Badgett gave a bear supper to 600 guests, including the opera stars. Sousa's band and southern artists.

Artists who sing and play for the public for thousands of dollars perform for Badgett between courses. Occasionally the party is broadcast, and a radio station
has a big party attended by members of the Metropolitan Opera company. Once Badgett gave a bear
supper to 600 guests, including the opera stars. Sousa's band and
southern artists.

One of Badgett's latest violins
was made from a bedstead of curly maple over 200 years old. Badgett's wife is an expert stringmaker.

VIOLIN MAKER HAS PRIVATE CONCERTS

ATLANTA, May 31.—All the
world's a stage for Maya Badgett.
In it he humbly plays the part of
a violin maker.

His world, however, is tiny.
About his bench is a confused assemblage of musical instruments.
The clatter of traffic pounds in
through dusty windows. But Badgett, as he works away with the knowledge that the proof of
the fiddle is in the playing, would
not trade his shop for a palace.

Famous personages of the musical world have made a beaten
path to his place. Once a year he has a big party attended by members of the Metropolitan Opera company. Once Badgett gave a bear
supper to 600 guests, including the opera stars. Sousa's band and
southern artists.

One of Badgett's latest violins
was made from a bedstead of curly maple over 200 years old. Badgett's wife is an expert stringmaker.

Billy Evans Says

the radio a good thing for all the broadcasting of the games or harmful to the financial interests of the sport?

the game, make more fans of those who have only a passing interest in the game, away by offering a running commentary of the game while sitting in a chair with all the comforts of home?

major leagues are not carrying on this point and they are not much thought. It isn't surprising me if a special law was called to consider the menace or help to the patrons, the radio.

a time, the majority of big league managers vetoed the idea of a few permitted it. Now the idea is becoming quite general. During my recent stay of 10 days in St. Louis, during from the dance, it struck me as if the radio was detrimental to the gate.

number of people told me they enjoyed the ball game the radio but I noticed no outpouring of fans at the ballpark.

I came into St. Louis after a few New York Yankees had beaten Browns four straight games. was a severe loss, yet I understand a timely base hit would have won three of those games. York was forced to the limit in each one.

defeat of the Browns by the Yankees no doubt left a taste, although I am told the Cardinals were only ordinary at the time with New York.

other factor must also be considered. The Cardinals, the National League entry, are the world champions. Naturally that makes them favorites, even though such a factor is only temporary.

the Browns were playing some in May, the Cardinals being trounced in the east. condition didn't make for enthusiasm among the St. Louis fans of course, reacted against the Cardinals.

bad weather also must be considered in reaching a decision on the efficiency of radio as a ballgame baseball. Cold and rainy weather is a great handicap.

the fact remains. In cities where the games are broadcast this spring, the attendance has shrunk considerably.

better weather sets in, I think that a far more correct decision can be reached relative to the good or bad influences of the radio on the gate receipts.

have worked perhaps a half season during the first six of play that were fitted for long other than baseball, just for football.

who ventured into the cold stands on such days in pneumonia. I would say the who lit the old pipe, dropped into the rocking chair, looked at a thermometer to see that the registered 70 and then turned the radio to listen to the game was far wiser than the who paid real money and died with pneumonia.

until the weather gets warmer propitious for baseball, it probably is impossible to tell whether the magnates are wise or foolish in permitting the broadcasting of the games.

WHEN C. E. PARKER, president of the Orange County Title company, guided his tee shot into the little cup on No. 2 hole at the Santa Ana Country club recently he became the fourth member of the local golfing organization to make a hole-in-one on the new course. The feat was all the more remarkable because Parker is left-handed, or a southpaw, in baseball parlance. Distance from tee to cup is approximately 114 yards and requires a "carry" across a wash and to a green that is heavily trapped. Parker used a mashie to negotiate his way into the golfing Hall of Fame.

BANDITS' CACHE OF LOOT SAID TO BE FOUND

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mex., May 31.—Six mysterious individuals are said to have unearthed the famous hidden treasures of General Tomas Urbina, companion of the guerrilla bandit Francisco (Pancho) Villa, and then to have disappeared.

That the treasures of General Urbina were somewhere in the state of Chihuahua has been known. The subject of hundreds of fruitless searching expeditions, time has gathered about this hoard of stolen wealth a host of fanciful tales.

It was about seven months ago that six strangers were encountered in the region, headed toward the Durango mountains. They were traveling light, although with considerable amounts of food and many picks and shovels.

The strangers passed on, pressing steadily toward the distant mountain range. And in a few days they had been forgotten. But now this city has heard the news that the six returned recently along the same road. They were thin and wan, and their food supplies were exhausted, but their mules and burros were laden with bulging sacks. To those who questioned them the strangers opened some of the sacks and revealed gold and silver and various costly relics of a multitude of churches.

The strangers explained that they had been six months in the hills, searching for the place where they believed the treasure was hidden.

Their search led them over the wildest sections of the mountain range, over dangerous precipices, until finally they arrived on a level stretch on the top of a hill which, their maps told them, was the hiding place of General Urbina's treasures.

But dig as they did, the treasure did not appear. And then one day one of them discovered what appeared to be the blocked entrance to a cave, halfway up the hill on which they had been digging.

They attacked this point, and in a short time the entrance to the tunnel was free. Within lay the treasure.

Among the objects found were some wooden boxes, inscribed with the name "Montes de Oca," containing gold, that the strangers believe had belonged to the churches of the capital of San Luis Potosi and of Durango.

HEALTH TESTS ARE URGED FOR PUPILS

SACRAMENTO, May 31.—A questionnaire for parents of children who will enter school next fall, designed to cause the parents to learn if the children are physically fit to take up their educational work, has just been announced by the California state board of health.

Having questioned themselves, the board announces parents should have the children examined. Such examinations will be made by the bureau of child hygiene with local health authorities, without charge. The questionnaire suggested by the board follows:

Is my child physically fit to enter school?
Has he any defects, and if so, how serious?
Is he growing?
Are his height and weight proper for a child of his age?
Does he stand correctly or does he droop?
Is his gait proper or does he limp?
Are his eyes all right and can he hear well?
Is his skin clear?
Does he breathe through his nose?
Is his throat in good condition?
Are his tonsils swollen or diseased?
Is his back strong?
Has he flat feet?
Does he eat the food that will make him grow?

Sports Favored By Communists

PARIS, May 31.—Sport is one thing on which Communists and their critics agree.

Sport is being fostered by Bolshevik leaders here and cross country bicycle races organized by and limited to the disciples of Moscow have brought new enthusiasm into the Red camp.

Opponents of the Communists' political tenets applaud the sports efforts as the best cure for Communism. They remark that healthy exercise is much better than listening to dull speeches in ill-smelling halls. Sport, they say, will teach the young idea an independence that will not brook too much Red rule, and a joy in life that will smile at the tale of tribulation the Communist organ daily tell.

WEEPAH BEGINS REAL ACTIVITY IN MINE WORK

WEEPAH, Nev., May 31.—Weepah has quit posing for movie pictures and gone to mining. Weepah has performed its full duty in supplying the newspapers with colorful stories and will now devote its time to digging for gold.

The gold is here, plenty of it; every round of shots in the electric shaft proves it is here. Gold is not picked up on the top of the ground, too many seem to have come here with this idea and have gone away disappointed.

It requires a lot of digging to develop a gold mine. Digging is going on in Weepah right now, digging by men who know how to dig and where to dig.

The richest gold deposit ever opened up was on the historic Hayes-Monnette lease on the Goldfield Mohawk, where one single shipment of 47 tons netted the lucky leasers over a half a million dollars, but these 47 tons were not found on the surface; it took a score of miners many days to dig it out.

Weepah has a good chance, for it opened up another Mohawk, but it will take time, perhaps many months, just as it did in Goldfield.

In the meantime there is plenty of digging in progress. The Horton company, the Electric Gold Mines, has 16 miners employed. Eight sets of leasers are working. Good results are being obtained. Many other companies are installing machinery and establishing their camps. The hills are full of prospectors.

"Even if that crazy old man trusts you," said the aviator, "I don't. If Darmon wasn't crazy, he'd never have thought of sending you to do a parachute jump. Go sit down!" He pointed imperiously toward a broken chair beside an old stove. At that moment, a flare of lightning illuminated the room. Jack's eyes widened as he stared at the back of the man's extended hand.

On the back of that pointing hand were dark marks at which the boy gazed in bewilderment, but with swiftly dawning understanding the marks of human teeth!

"What's the matter?" snapped the man, suddenly lowering his hand. "Nothing," mumbled the boy. "Only I feel a little sick." He staggered to the chair.

The sight of those teeth marks had led Lockwell to believe the impossible though it seemed, the aviator himself was the disguised ruffian who had attacked Henry Darmon in the hotel at Rocklake, rob him of his invention. Darmon had told the boy of biting the man's right hand in the struggle. And now the scoundrel had a parachute in his possession. What could Jack do?

TRAFFIC OVER TUSTIN ROAD SETS RECORD

TUSTIN, May 31.—All traffic records through this city for the 1927 season were broken yesterday afternoon, when 18,000 automobiles passed over the newly completed highway in Tustin in a five-hour period.

State motorcycle officers stationed in Tustin kept check on the cars. The machines were counted from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. yesterday afternoon. During that time cars passed the intersection of Main street and the state highway at the rate of one every second for the period.

From 6 o'clock yesterday morning to after midnight last night officers estimated that more than 18,000 machines passed over the new 20-foot boulevard from Santa Ana through Tustin. No accidents were reported on the road.

"I was very much pleased to read in the Santa Ana Register recently of your presidency of the local Lions' club and the fact that you have just received your charter," read the letter of Congressman Swing.

Crowds Orderly At Newport Beach, Officers Report

NEWPORT BEACH, May 31.—The crowd which jammed the streets and covered the beaches yesterday and on the preceding days of the week-end conducted itself in an orderly manner, according to police.

One case of intoxication, that of John Hanson, local mechanic, was the only case reported. No drownings or near drownings were reported. No fires seemed to furnish a holiday thrill for the city.

Approximately 6500 people were in the city yesterday with a total of about 15,000 visitors for the three-day holiday, according to estimates.

1000 CARS OF VALENCIAS ARE SHIPPED EAST
ORANGE, May 31.—More than 1000 cars of Valencia oranges have been shipped through the exchange from the Orange district since the opening of the season in April, according to L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange.

Large shipments of the fruit will continue until later in the season, when melons and delicious fruits enter into active competition, according to Palmer. This policy is thought advisable because of the large crop of fruit on the trees.

In shipping fruit, the large sizes only should be picked and packed, said Palmer, because of the poor prices being realized on small fruit. Prices on the larger sizes are fairly good, he said.

Lemons have been going much better during the past few days, according to the citrus officials. The demand will increase as warm weather approaches, it is believed.

SERVICE CLUB OF COSTA MESA PLANS TO BEAUTIFY DISTRICT

COSTA MESA, May 31.—Beautification of the community through a cleanup campaign and other means yet to be worked out will be the center of activity of the Lions' club during the coming weeks, it was learned today.

The Lions and their wives are to be guests of the Friday Afternoon club on June 14, at 3 p. m., at which time ways and means for the beautification of the community will be discussed.

"The club will assist the Friday Afternoon club and the chamber of commerce in fostering everything good for Costa Mesa," Dr. C. G. Huston, president, declared, in discussing the plans of the new club.

A great work has already been accomplished in the short time the club has been organized, according to Dr. Huston. Harmony, which appeared to be lacking among the business men of the community, is well on its way to restoration among the citizens of the community since the luncheon meetings of the club have grown in favor, according to Dr. Huston.

Future projects which the Lions are expected to interest themselves concern the development of the community into a city, with the improvements which go with the larger population.

NEWPORT TO PASS PARKING ORDINANCE
NEWPORT BEACH, May 31.—Parking on the streets of Newport Beach and Balboa will be regulated through an ordinance which will be considered for final passage at tonight's session of the board of trustees, it is believed. The ordinance, as introduced at the last meeting, would prohibit parking on the extremely narrow streets except at certain hours and would place a time limit on parking in other sections of the city.

The necessity of the ordinance was demonstrated more forcibly than ever to residents and officials during the three-day period just passed.

That the board would probably adopt the annual resolution allowing city employees who have been in the service of the city for one year or more, a vacation of two weeks during some time during the summer months, was learned this morning.

Linen Business Is On Increase
DUBLIN, May 31.—The linen trade is looking up in Belfast and mills which have been closed for months are now reopening. The improvement is attributed largely to the advertising of the qualities of Irish linen in the United States. Other contributory causes are the stabilization of the Belgian exchange and the rise of the French franc. Next to the United States, Australia is the largest purchaser of Ulster linen. Shipbuilding in Belfast has also improved, and the unemployment problem, which has been greater there than in any other part of Ireland, is being much relieved.

Armistice Day to Be Legal Holiday
SACRAMENTO, Armistice day was today made a legal holiday in California by Governor Young. The governor observed Armistice day by signing the whole program of bills sponsored by the American Legion and other veterans' organizations and designed to protect the rights of ex-service men.

The action of the department of agriculture in suddenly barring the Argentine beef without any preliminary salvo or warning. The annual Argentine beef shipments to the United States were only 3,000,000 pounds, so the ban wasn't a catastrophe, but that is only a very small fraction of what Argentina sells to Great Britain and the Argentine is worrying lest Britain take a tip from the United States.

IMPROVEMENT OF COSTA MESA AIM OF LIONS

COSTA MESA, May 31.—Beautification of the community through a cleanup campaign and other means yet to be worked out will be the center of activity of the Lions' club during the coming weeks, it was learned today.

The Lions and their wives are to be guests of the Friday Afternoon club on June 14, at 3 p. m., at which time ways and means for the beautification of the community will be discussed.

"The club will assist the Friday Afternoon club and the chamber of commerce in fostering everything good for Costa Mesa," Dr. C. G. Huston, president, declared, in discussing the plans of the new club.

A great work has already been accomplished in the short time the club has been organized, according to Dr. Huston. Harmony, which appeared to be lacking among the business men of the community, is well on its way to restoration among the citizens of the community since the luncheon meetings of the club have grown in favor, according to Dr. Huston.

Future projects which the Lions are expected to interest themselves concern the development of the community into a city, with the improvements which go with the larger population.

Haliday also expected to attend but is unable to do so because of illness in her home.

June 8 will mark the last meeting of the year and will be of a social nature.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell is Right

When a man is in the 83rd year of his life, there are certain things he has learned that only time can teach him. The basis of treating sickness has not changed since I left Medical College in 1875, nor since I placed on the market the laxative prescription I had used in my practice, known to druggists and the public since 1893, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of my Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

New medicines are constantly brought out for constipation that contain calomel (which is mercury, salts of various kinds, phenolphthalein (which is acid and coal tar), and minerals. These are all drastic purges, many of them dangerous, and the medical profession is warning the public against them. Certain coal tar products which are offered to people so much nowadays, irritate and poison the tissue of the stomach, intestine and bowel. Most salts thin the blood and carry off the vital body fluids, making you anemic and rheumatic.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs which are usually disguised as candy or chewing gum?

My remedy, too, costs less than most others; only about a cent a dose. A bottle of it will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All druggists have the generous bottles.

"Say not that Night brings shadows—Night brings stars.

Night holds the hours the wearied soul loves best.
Night is the goal that ends the day's long quest,

COUNTY ATTRACTS MOTORISTS

Reports indicate that the beach communities will enjoy exceptionally heavy business this season. Thousands swarmed the Orange county coast during the week-end period, many coming as early as Friday evening to remain over until Monday night. From Seal Beach at the western end of the county to San Clemente, the beach was lined with people and automobiles.

All of which brings to mind the fact that Orange county is increasing in popularity as a recreation center.

The beach is not the only place in the county where people come to enjoy themselves, as witness the crowds at County Park any Sunday or holiday. The beautiful canyons and beauty spots alongside orange groves daily attract hundreds of people from out of the county. Development of highways has resulted in heavy travel in all parts of the district.

Thousands of people come to Orange county for one or two day excursions and these become ardent boosters for the county, carrying Orange county's fame to the far corners of the earth.

The Valencia Orange show at Anaheim attracted its share of out-of-county visitors, and these returned home impressed with the versatility of the district.

Orange county residents may well feel proud that their district has so many attractions. A district that is capable of drawing visitors is a mighty good place in which to live.

HOMELESS AUTOMOBILES

Judging by figures given out by the office of County Assessor James Sleeper, there are 15,000 automobiles in Orange county owned by persons who do not also own a piece of real estate.

The assessor has just completed a list of automobile owners in the county, taken from the state records, and is sending notices to all those who have no real estate to make immediate payment of a personal property tax. The owner of an automobile who also owns real estate will pay his county tax on his automobile at the same time that he does on his real estate.

It is only upon unattached personal property that the personal property tax is payable immediately, at least not later than July 1.

There is quite a bit of food for thought in the figures presented by the assessor. "We are at once led to wonder how many of these automobile owners have bought automobiles before they have thought of buying homes and what effect the automobile is having upon home ownership."

To how many is it more important that they have "something to get around in" than it is to have a place in which to live that they can call their own?

OIL PRIVILEGE TAX

Students of taxation should watch with interest the workings of West Virginia's new $500,000 a year privilege tax on the proceeds of oil, gas and other mineral and natural resources produced within the state. The United States supreme court, in a test case, has just declared this new tax law constitutional.

This is interesting legislation. Mexico has declared that the federal government is the owner of all natural resources, and the taxes levied by reason of this doctrine have been the chief bones of contention between the United States and the southern republic. How West Virginia's tax will be received remains to be seen.

The taxation of mineral rights has been a subject of much discussion in California. So far this property in this state has been left to the counties, in spite of frequent efforts to have it turned into the class subject to state taxation, which class includes public utilities, railroads, banks and insurance companies. Where it will go as a result of the revision of California's taxation system, which is contemplated by the state administration, remains to be seen. Orange county will oppose any change that takes oil properties away from local taxation.

AMBASSADOR TO THE WORLD

Now that everyone concerned has offered suggestions as to our government's course of action in respect to Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, we would like to offer a new one, unofficial and doubtless impractical, but fervent and from the heart.

We would like to see the American government retain Lindbergh, at the highest salary the treasury could afford, to fly his airplane all around the world, visiting every country, as a sort of traveling ambassador and minister-extraordinary to all the peoples in the world.

The much talked of anti-American feeling that is said to exist everywhere would, we are confident, vanish almost overnight.

That idea isn't as wild as it sounds. It would be a mighty good investment. Roosevelt once sent our fleet around the world and reaped for the United States a tremendous harvest of good will. Lindbergh could do even better.

What feeling of ill-will could stand up before Lindbergh? What foreign nation, seeing this young man and contemplating the fact that he is an American, could do anything but decide that we must be a pretty fine people, after all?

The plain fact is that Lindbergh is almost unbelievable. His whole exploit has almost an air of unreality about it. If some novelist had tried to write a fantastic story about a character who, in deeds and personality, should be a sort of conglomeration of the best features of every popular idol we have ever had, he would have turned out a tale and a central figure less satisfying than what Lindbergh has given us.

This country, they say, will give him a marvelous reception when he returns. It ought to. Lindbergh has done us more good than anything that has happened in—well, we don't know how long. He has remembered our friendship with France, which, if you stop to think about it, is no unimportant item. He has made all of Europe feel more kindly toward us. And, best of all, he has given all of us, young and old, a new hero—a hero that we can adore wholeheartedly, an idol without a single flaw.

Selling California River

San Francisco Chronicle

The transfer of water rights from the Miller and Lux interests to the San Joaquin river and water storage district, now pending, will mark the end of the amazing situation in which, owing to the peculiar character of California's water law, one interest has for more than a generation practically owned the second largest river in the state.

Miller & Lux lands in Fresno, Madera, Merced and Stanislaus counties cover both banks of the San Joaquin river for 150 miles. The riparian owner of the river gave Miller & Lux practical control of all the waters of the river for irrigation purposes. Had this been in Massachusetts it would have meant nothing to other landowners. But in California, and in the San Joaquin valley, where everything is dependent upon irrigation, it has meant a great deal.

Economic pressure has solved the problem. There is a unit of efficiency in agriculture beyond which one may not go with profit. Overhead and taxes reach a point where the wholesale pursuit of individualism is at a disadvantage as against the individual whose enterprise and self-interest spur him on. It is this factor that is bringing to a close the era of baronial land holdings in California.

Under this pressure the Miller & Lux lands are being broken up to pass into the possession of smaller holders who can put the land to a higher use. The 220,000 acres on the San Joaquin river are to become part of a local co-operative irrigation district and the water monopoly of the San Joaquin river comes to an end.

The change is epochal for the San Joaquin valley and for all California as well. For the epitaph of the old era is written into the application to the Railroad Commission for formal approval of the sale of the San Joaquin and Kings Rivers Canal and Irrigation company, the subsidiary holding the Miller & Lux water rights, to the irrigation district.

Flood Control Survey Needed

San Bernardino Sun

President Coolidge is being urged to appoint immediately a commission of the nation's most eminent engineers to devise a comprehensive plan for controlling and using the flood waters of the Mississippi and its tributaries. He is especially urged not to make it a commission of army engineers. It is held that the army men are too conservative, too small in their ideas. They have been dealing with the subject for years and higher and better levees have been their only method. It is believed that three methods are necessary, impounding water near the heads of tributaries, higher levees opening of new discharge channels.

Some years ago there was advanced a project by an engineer of repute, to open a great canal by which a considerable portion of the water of the Mississippi might find a channel into the gulf by another route, to be used only in times of high water, because at low water the river has too little instead of too much. It is not thought that such a volume could be impounded as would prevent a flood in such a year as the present. That would require tremendous reservoir capacity, covering perhaps as much land as that saved from overflow. But enough could be held to assure a navigable stage in the river during the summer and provide a great volume of hydro-electric power. New channels and higher levees seem to be the best assurance against disaster.

What is needed is a complete waterway plan for the entire country, not just a Mississippi plan. It should include the Colorado in its scope, as well as the Atlantic seaboard. We shall be very short-sighted if we continue to talk Boulder Dam alone. The great interest of the nation is elsewhere and we need to capitalize it for our own project.

Sinclair Gets Three Months

Sacramento Bee

Harry F. Sinclair, oil man and chief instigator of the Teapot Dome scandal, has been sentenced to spend three months in jail and pay a fine of $500 for contempt of the United States Senate.

He will, of course, appeal, and it may be a long time before he sees his time, if it ever does. But one more damning item has been added to the record, and one more barrier against the future looking of public property has been raised.

A comparatively few years ago such affairs as Teapot Dome were spoken of cynically. It was considered right and proper for private citizens to loot the nation, and many of the successful looters have had statues erected to their memories. But of late a change has been coming over public opinion, and the various verdicts against Sinclair and Doheny admirably express that change.

Whatever the big business associates of these men may think about it, it is no longer respectable to corrupt cabinet officers and grab public resources. Nor is it any longer advisable to treat the government (as personified by the senate) with contempt.

If Harry F. Sinclair has eventually to serve his three months in jail, it will not only be good for him but extremely good for the nation.

HEART DISEASE OFTEN BEGINS WITH OTHER MALADIES

The causes of heart disease are numerous. Any factor that causes unusual wear and tear on the human tissues may have a secondary effect on the tissues of the heart. These tissues are then unable to withstand the strains of ordinary life.

The heart may be incapacitated from birth due to some deficiency in its development before the child is born. Infection of the throat during infancy frequently is carried to the heart, as are also infections of the nose and throat during childhood and adolescence.

It was long believed that over-indulgence in alcohol brought about degenerative changes in the tissues of the heart as did also such constitutional disorders as syphilis. The latter is a potent cause of disease of the entire system of blood vessels. Its presence has been associated with hardening of the arteries, inflammation of the lining of the blood vessels, and particularly the presence of weak spots in blood vessel walls. These weak spots cannot stand the strain of the pressure of the blood stream and gradually give way, producing what is called aneurism.

The first symptom of a failing heart is usually either shortness of breath on slight exertion or pain in the region of the heart. The patient is seldom able to diagnose the presence of heart disease for himself, and too much attention to his heart is likely to make him organ-conscious.

It is a common saying in medicinal circles that when a patient complains of his heart the wise physician will think of his stomach. On the other hand if he complains greatly of his stomach, it may be well to examine carefully his heart.

If the heart does not seem to be able to do its work properly, some condition has been at work to damage the heart muscle. This is usually the circulation of a poison in the body, either bacterial or chemical. An excess of smoking affects the heart both through the effects of tobacco on the nerves controlling the heart action.

Home and School Program

Oakland Tribune

"It is necessary that parents and teachers should be working on projects which are of mutual interest, at one and the same time; and that since the professional program of the school cannot be subject to adaptation to outside conditions, the program of the home and the community must have sufficient flexibility to meet the more fixed requirements of the educational system."

This, from an address at the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, in session here, puts in few words that which has been expressed no better in many. The Parent-Teachers associations have brought together in a working program those who have the custody and care of the child. The parent who is a home-maker is also a citizen-maker.

Walking from the home to the school, the child must necessarily move from one environment to another. He is an unfortunate child if those environments conflict, if the influences of the one are undone in the other, if at the two ends of his little daily journey are adults with nothing in common, each with no knowledge of the other. The thousands of parents who are enrolled in the Parent-Teachers organizations are bringing the home and school together until there is more of the home in the school and more of the school in the home. Knowing that education begins in the home, and the beginning is most important, they draw upon school experience and knowledge which educators have acquired, to make that beginning the best possible. Doing so, they are educating the homes in those fields which used to belong exclusively to the teachers and, in turn, are carrying into the schools a broader human understanding which does not permit the individual to be submerged in the system, and are giving to those who carry on the arduous classroom training a measure of that encouragement and understanding to which they are entitled.

WHAT IS GOOD?

"What is the real good?"
I asked in musing mood.

Order, said the law court;
Knowledge, said the school;
Truth, said the wise man;
Pleasure, said the fool;
Love, said the maiden;
Beauty, said the page;
Freedom, said the dreamer;
Home, said the sage;
Fame, said the soldier;
Equity, the seer;—

Spoke my heart full sadly,
"The answer is not here."

Then within my bosom,
Softly this I heard:
"Each heart holds the secret;
Kindness is the word."

Los Angeles Again Agitated

San Bernardino Sun

Torn by two emotions—the defense of everything Los Angeles has done in the wide scope of state affairs and opposition to the movement well under way by the Los Angeles politicians to divide the great state of California—the Los Angeles Times pleads for a "united Southern California."

The Times will be a great factor in preventing the division of the state, and for its love for all of California it is to be enthusiastically applauded. California is too glorious a state to be torn in twain to satisfy the ambitions of the politicians or for any other reason whatsoever.

But if the Times is to seek a united Southern California under the leadership of Los Angeles it must begin, not by pretending that Los Angeles has watched with tender interest for the welfare of the rural counties of Southern California, but by making full confession of the sins of that great city against defenseless neighbors.

When any other interest has stood in the way of anything that Los Angeles wanted, Los Angeles has been entirely ruthless in its methods of acquiring or attempting to acquire what it wanted. There is nothing to be gained by re-printing the long list of these invasions on the rights of other communities, but we will charge that the Times gives an incorrect impression when it says: "The Los Angeles delegation consistently supported every measure for the advantage of the rural south." Los Angeles has sought various things not for the best interests of the rural south. Los Angeles has sought what has been for the best interest of Los Angeles, regardless of what that might have done to the rest of the south.

Los Angeles should be the leader of a united Southern California and it will take that place when its official and other institutions look beyond the city limits of Los Angeles and the limits of Los Angeles county and determine what is good for all of Southern California, not merely the Southern California that Los Angeles knows.

Among the things Los Angeles has done for the rural south, according to the Times, was large voting support for the right side on such proposals as the "gas tax" racing, allocation of highways, repeal of the Wright acts and placing the Bible in the schools."

Says the Times: "Without the huge majorities rolled up in Los Angeles county on these measures the San Francisco element would have been successful in voting down the little counties of the south."

Such piffle! The issues involving racing, repeal of the Wright acts and placing the Bible in the schools were no more the issues of the "little counties of the south" than they were of the people of Los Angeles. Yet that city did the county a favor, as it were, to adopt the rural viewpoint, to read the Times.

The rural portion of Southern California will not be a divided part of the state of California, whether there is a united Southern California or not, but it would be much to the advantage of the southern counties if true co-operation and friendship could prevail.

State and Delinquency

Oakland Tribune

With the signing of the bill by Governor Young California will conduct a two-year inquiry into the hope of learning something about the causes of juvenile delinquency. The experts will seek to discover what it is that sends young people into the ways of crime, will try to devise methods of rescuing the delinquents, or caring for them, and may make suggestions as to the removal of the abundant causes of crime.

This is, of course, the scientific way to tackle the crime problem for it would give more attention to the raw material out of which a good citizen or a criminal is to be made than to the finished product. Doubtless the committee will find two years none too long and will return a report covering many pages of print. The difficulty will be encountered in imposing their findings on the public consciousness and the reward will be the knowledge that no advance may be made without an accurate chart, or foundation of facts upon which to build. Though it be an age-long task to remove, or materially lessen, crime by attacking the causes, it cannot be argued on the contrary, that the method of meeting the effects of crime upon the individual and society has proved satisfactory.

Possibly one of the main causes of crime is the fact that morose love notoriety. When the youth realizes that a surrender to that temptation proves him a mental weakling instead of a hero or romantic figure, there will be less of crime. It might be argued, also, that notoriety makes morons, for a few moments of that extravagant attention which a part of society gives those who take part in reckless exploit may hopelessly turn a head and distort values until it is ready to accept evil as something daring and romantic.

California has made notable progress in dealing with delinquency. The new law is not to be interpreted as a sudden disposition toward reform, but as another step, perhaps the largest, in a program to rescue for society the natural assets of youth.

Our standard of living in this golden age is so far ahead of the "good old days" and our numerous improvements and inventions have made such a difference in the mode of life, that one has only to "Stop and Think" to realize that it must be a warped nature, indeed, that can find room for discontent.

Tune in on the radio after dinner and listen in on the doings of the world seated in your "comfy" chair; call up the folks across the continent and learn how things are with them; bring out the car and visit the neighbors anywhere within 30 miles, spend a pleasant hour or two and return home by bedtime. Imagine a mother of olden days having time to care for her home and belong to society clubs, library clubs and card clubs, as does her successor of today, and still have time to keep her home in first-class shape with her modern implements, neat and shining, for father's pleasure.

Picture Pains

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

IF YOUR child is self conscious or has a little mannerism which you wish to correct, the surest way to make it worse is to talk about it and worry him regarding it. If a little fellow, or a big one for that matter, constantly hears, "Charles is so clumsy," or "Charles is so bashful," the constant reminder certainly isn't going to give him self confidence. It's the same principle as when we are self conscious or embarrassed we simply don't take a good picture. Do him the kindness of ignoring his short coming and build up his self confidence by constructive suggestions.

ONCE every year I have to go

And have my picture taken, so

The many kinds of relatives

In far off places where each lives

Can have the newest one of me,

To know how I have grown you see.

The picture-man is kind I know

But yet I awfully hate to go.

He wheels his camera out in front

And cuts a foolish monkey stunt,

A-waving dolls and jumping round.

A-clucking every kind of sound,

And calling out, "There, now hold still;

That's very good, I think," until

I feel so goofy like and strange

That all my face gets picture pains.

At last he bows us out the door

Inviting us to come some more.

Then by and by the pictures come

And daddy says, "Well, this one's bum!

What makes him look so strained and sad?

This last is best; it's not so bad."

As mother puts it on the shelf

She frets, "He doesn't look himself;

He seems so different like and strange."

It seems she'd know it's picture pains!
